Stark Charges 'Slush Fund' To Defeat Bill

States $175,000 Is Sought To Fight Police Control

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark charged today that "the big gamblers of Kansas City" were raising a $175,000 slush fund in an attempt to defeat his bid for state control of Kansas City police, and declared, 'I propose to use the full resources of the governor's office to frustrate any such damnable scheme."

The governor declared "a leading member of the gamblers' syndicate now under indictment for operating one of the most notorious gambling joints was in Jefferson City yesterday."

"Why are the organized gamblers so vitally interested in defeating such legislation?" he asked and answered himself:

"It can only be because they have been receiving and want to continue to receive police protection."

A bill now in the house judiciary committee, introduced at the insistence of the governor would remove the Kansas City police department from what Stark termed "the quagmire of local partisan politics" and place its supervision under a state board to be named by the executive himself.

Stark declined comment on published reports the NYA had helped prepare form letters used in a mail campaign against the police bill, but said copies of letters had come into his hands that were written by Kansas City policemen to out-state persons calling for defeat of the administration measure.

He said one such letter had been written by a police lieutenant, "John Henry Gill," which enclosed mimeograph statements to be forwarded to members of the legislature urging votes against the police bill.

"I know that between 500 and 1,000 telephone calls went out of Jefferson City in one day, asking people to write their representatives to vote against this bill," Stark declared.

Tim Moran, indicted by the recent Jackson county grand jury as a Kansas City resort operator, was a spectator in the house galleries several days this week.

The governor read his statement to reporters in slow, deliberate tones from prepared notes, after first asking, "Does everybody have pencil and paper?"

Expresses "Horror"

"I am horrified to learn from absolutely reliable sources that the big gamblers of Kansas City have raised a slush fund of $100,000 and are raising an additional sum of $75,000, all to be used in a desperate effort to defeat the Kansas City police bill," he read.

"I know the membership of the Missouri general assembly is in no mood to tolerate any such tactics . . . and I propose to use the full resources of the governor's office . . . to bring the full facts to light."

After he finished reading his prepared statement, Stark turned to the current federal grand jury activities in Kansas City.

"I am deeply gratified and I know all the good people of Missouri are thankful to read the statement of the attorney general of the United States, Frank Murphy, that no political pressure can stop the federal grand jury investigation in Kansas City in the insurance case and other cases now before it.

"The people of Missouri have the utmost confidence in our federal courts and are confident that the guilty will be brought to the bar of justice, no matter how high they stand politically."

The governor said a series of raids at Poplar Bluff yesterday resulted from activities of a "special investigator in my employ."

"They were trying to set up a little Kansas City down there and we had to stop it," he said. "I'll do the same thing any place in the state where such conditions develop."

He declined to identify the investigator. All information gathered was turned over to state

Retail Trade Takes Upturn

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—Summarizing the high spots of merchandise buying during the past week, the Dun and Bradstreet weekly review said today:

"Retail trade took an abrupt turn for the better, with a resultant increase in wholesale orders for seasonal merchandise.

"The estimated retail volume for the country as a whole was larger than the same week last year by 4 to 8 per cent. The regional pattern, however, was highly irregular, varying from a loss of 2 to 7 per cent in the northwest to a gain of 6 to 10 per cent in the middle west and south."

Keeps In Touch With Foreign Crisis On Trip

President Talks By Phone Over Foreign Affairs

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 31 —(AP)— Sources close to the white house asserted today there was a general fear in the world that Germany might extend her "domination" to other races to other continents and that current British and French actions appeared to seek an end of that danger.

While President Roosevelt refused to discuss the foreign crisis at a roadside press conference, intimates declared Prime Minister Chamberlain's pledge to the house of commons today that Britain would fight if Poland's independence were threatened and his further statement that France would take similar action seemed to put squarely up to Germany the responsibility for any possible general war.

These sources said Britain and France, were, in effect, saying to Germany that war could come only by invasion by Germany of some other country and war would be avoided if there were no such invasion.

Therefore, it was said, the world has been put on notice where the responsibility lies if there is war.

Keeps In Touch

The president was keeping in close touch with the state department and Europe. He told reporters he had talked with both by telephone and probably would talk with them two or three times again during the day. He would not say with whom he discussed foreign affairs by trans-Atlantic telephone.

White house sources, summing up the world situation since Munich, said what was concerning the world today — the Near East, Far East, Africa and the Americas —was that the hope the world had last September that German policy was limited, and would continue to be limited, to bringing contiguous German people into the reich — and only German people —had been dissipated by events of the last few weeks.

It was pointed out Germany had brought into its realm a great many million Slavs and, under the domination of the reich, many million Hungarians. In addition, it had brought under partial economic domination many millions of Rumanians.

The official sources went on to say none of these sections squared with the announced intention of Hitler up to last autumn.

Therefore, it was said, the people of every continent felt that where there was a limit last autumn there is no limit today, presenting thus a very difficult picture.

House Passes $100,000,000 Bill For Relief

Would Allot It To Finance WPA, Until July 1

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The house passed and sent to the senate today a bill appropriating an additional $100,000,000 —$50,000,000 less than President Roosevelt asked—to finance WPA until July 1.

WASHINGTON, March 31—(AP)—The house defeated overwhelmingly today an administration attempt to raise the relief appropriation bill from $100,000,000 to the extra $150,000,000 which President Roosevelt requested for WPA expenses through June 30.

By a 205 to 156 teller vote, it bowled over an amendment by Rep. Fitzpatrick (D-NY) to add $50,000,000 to the bill's total.

Just before, this vote it had refused to cut the fund to $54,293,575.

The two ballots were interpreted by some legislators as virtually assuring ultimate approval of the $100,000,000 which the appropriations committee recommended. That was the amount for which the house economy bloc also was fighting.

Rep. Casey (D-Mass) immediately offered an amendment to raise the appropriation from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000.

Defeat Amendment

By a vote of 161 to 111 standing vote it defeated and amendment by Rep. Cox to reduce the fund $95,706,425 below the amount recommended by the president for WPA operations through June 30 and $45,706,425 below the figure approved by the appropriations committee.

Administration forces have submitted an amendment to raise the total to the $150,000,000 asked by Mr. Roosevelt.

Encountered Opposition

Offered by Rep. Fitzpatrick (D-NY), the amendment encountered strong opposition from many Republicans and Democratic members of the economy bloc.

Fingerprint Officials Of The U. S. Government

By Eddie Gilmore

WASHINGTON, March 31—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said today it's getting the voluntary fingerprinting situation in hand.

In less than a month the following—with no federal persuasion—have smeared their digits with ink and pressed them on paper for a permanent record:

Vice President Garner.
A handful of senators.
Two handfuls of representatives.
The white house staff.
War Department employes.

President Roosevelt has confessed that the government's had his prints for years. The same goes for Mrs. Roosevelt.

The FBI has 1,131,901 civil finger-prints on file. An average day brings 2,331 voluntary contributions, the vast majority from visitors to the bureau.

The bureau would like nothing better than to get the print of every American, but admits it would be a difficult task. It now has 10,200,000 prints, including civil and criminal records. It's the largest collection in the world.

The prints are not wanted entirely for criminal detection. They help identify accident victims and applicants for jobs.

Of the people who voluntarily ask to have their prints on record, there's not as much difference as you'd expect when it comes to males and females. The women lag a little, but officers say it's because they don't want to get their fingers dirty.

Appropriations Are Piloted To Perfection

House In A Night Session Take Up $55,000,000 Acts

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—(AP)—The house virtually locked itself in last night and sped to perfection $55,000,000 in 1939-40 appropriation bills—accomplishing in a few hours a task it had delayed for weeks.

After a preliminary tussle for a quorum, Democratic leaders beat down repeated attempts to amend the measures and as mid-night approached the big funding bills were being perfected swiftly with methodical "aye" votes — and without debate.

The acts allot $55,000,000 from general revenue to finance practically all functions of the state this year and next. Included in the rush was the $29,000,000 social security bill setting up $19,500,000 for old age pensions.

From his desk at the rear of the chamber, appropriations chairman John D. Taylor (D), Keytesville, piloted the eight big bills to perfection, defeating attempt after attempt to amend the measures away from the figures set up by his committee.

But Two Amendments

Only two amendments were adopted. Taylor himself offered one and acquiesced to the other. The majority smothered an attempt to slash 10 per cent off all salaries and expenses in the executive bill.

A special order of business brought the appropriations bill into a night session and ran into an immediate furore over a quorum when Rep. Suggett L. Edwards (D), Mexico, called for a quorum roll call. Only a few of the 52 Republican members were in their seats at the time.

"If our little friend from Audrain County wants to play that way," bristled Taylor, "I'll swear out a warrant for every absent member of this house and the sergeant at arms will bring them in."

The final roll call showed a quorum present by eight members and the bills started their quick trip to perfection.

"They want work, we'll give 'em some," said one Democratic member. "We're going to stay here until we get through, even if we have to stop the clock at midnight and work until three in the morning."

By 11:30 the last of the bills had been perfected.

Major change in the social security bill came with the adoption of Edwards' amendment to boost the aid to dependent children appropriation from $2,500,000 to $3,250,000—in line with an emergency grant approved earlier in the week. Taylor agreed the house was "pledged" to the higher amount.

The appropriations chairman amended the executive bill $86,665 to take care of $2,500 salary raises for judges and commissioners of the state supreme and appellate courts. The bill already had been signed by the governor and Taylor explained the salary hike would be in effect for the last 16 months of the biennium.

Changes To Defeat

The house voted down an amendment of Rep. J. Carl Henry (D), Bates County, to increase the appropriation for State Hospital No. 4 at Farmington $50,000.

Amendments of Rep. Frank J. Iffrig (D), St. Charles, to increase the Lincoln (Negro) University appropriations by $63,000 also were beaten.

In addition to social security, these bills were perfected for the following allotments from general revenue:

Executive departments bill, $7,278,787; eleemosynary institutions, $4,784,234; colleges and universities, $8,927,256; legislative salaries and expenses, $455,705; penal institutions, $4,090,000.

There appropriations were approved to be financed by road funds, gasoline and automobile taxes: Highway, $1,885,000 for operation of the highway department and $45,000,000 for construction and maintenance of roads; $1,124,713 for the highway parol.

Allot $420,835 For April Relief

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—The state social security commission today allotted $420,835 for general relief in April, a reduction of more than $60,000 from this month's figure. The March allottment was $482,492.

The reduction reflects passing of the relief case load peak, social security officials said. This month's cases totaled 42,646 while the anticipated load for April is between 40,000 and 41,000.

During the first three months of the year $1,321,582 has been spent for relief.

School Held On Credits

Meeting At Bothwell To Study Principles Of Credit Accounts

To cover the fundamentals of extending credit, the school of Credit and Collections held the first of a series of three meetings Thursday night in Hotel Bothwell, conducted by Mrs. James Saylor, of Jefferson City.

The meetings are under the auspices of the local board of education and the state department of education, in cooperation with the Sedalia Credit Association.

Mrs. Saylor, who has conducted several schools over the state, discussed the obtaining of applications for credit, the interviewing of applicants, the investigation of risk and accepting or declining the account.

An open discussion was held, with various persons telling of their experiences in credit and their handling of different accounts.

About 70 business and professional men and women were present. The schools have been conducted in Missouri for the last two years though this is the first one in Sedalia. There is no expense to participants.

Mark Brooks, coordinator of vocational education in Jefferson City, was also at the meeting.

School Levy Be Voted On Tuesday

Voters at the city election next Tuesday will vote on the school levy of $1.00 on the $100 valuation, also on a nine months school. The law requires that a vote be taken on these questions at the annual spring election, and if they should fail to carry it would be necessary to hold a special election, or operate only a three or four months school.

The levy is the same as it has been for several years.

Two Cars Were Ransacked and Robbed

Two automobiles were robbed Thursday night by thieves who got away with a suit of clothes, and a camera from one and a camera and two pair of sun glasses from another.

From the car of S. K. Ray, 601 West Fourth street, parked at Seventh street and Missouri avenue, the glasses and camera were stolen.

Out of the car of Joe H. Flusher, 1202 West Broadway, which was parked at the rear of his home, the suit and camera were taken.

Recruited Women To Aid Franco Forces In Siege

By John P. McNight

MADRID, March 31—(AP)—A shy woman Nationalist of Madrid, Senorita Caya Eugenia Lasternas, came into the open today to receive Nationalist congratulations for recruiting 10,000 women into a pro-Franco phalanx during the long siege of Madrid.

Nationalists said she saved thousands of Generalissimo Franco's followers during the war and although hunted by the Republican secret service, SIM, was never arrested nor detained.

She took her orders from the head office of Franco's Auxilio Social (relief organization) in Burgos through an intricate spy network. She never remained in one place and her headquarters usually was some underground hideout. Most of her own followers never knew her by sight nor name.

She gave assistance to bed-ridden Franco sympathizers, aiding them to hide. She smuggled medical assistance. She even arranged for priests to visit the dying for the administration of extreme unction.

Nationalists said Republican secret agents mobilized entire squads to seek her out.

Evidence of Senorita Lasternas' work was easily apparent in the capitulation of Madrid on Tuesday when the famous "fifth column" Nationalists behind the Republican lines emerged to take over the city before Franco's troops marched in.

British Also The French Would Go To Poland's Aid

Chamberlain States Position To Commons

LONDON, March 31— (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain in an historic attempt to block Germany's expansion on the continent announced in the house of commons today that Britain and France would back with arms the independence of Poland while pursuing means of stabilizing the European situation.

Without mentioning Germany, the prime minister stated Britain's position thus.

"In the event of any action which clearly threatened Polish independence and which the Polish government accordingly considered it vital to resist with their national forces, his majesty's government would feel themselves bound at once to lend the Polish government all the support in their power.

"They have given the Polish government an assurance to this effect.

"I may add that the French government has authorized me to make it plain that they stand in the same position in this matter as does his majesty's government."

Statement Is Strong

The statement went beyond anything most European observers anticipated.

The prime minister had been expected to qualify his guarantee by refusing to fight for Danzig or the Polish corridor.

The commitment was also a direct reversal of Chamberlain's statement of a year ago when he rejected Laborite demands for a British guarantee of the frontiers of Czecho-Slovakia.

Scarcely an hour before the prime minister made the statement United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy left the foreign office.

It was known that Kennedy had been in constant touch with the prime minister for the past 48 hours.

Chamberlain's history-making declaration occupied less than five minutes and the house recessed after a session of only 17 minutes.

The prime minister ended with the statement that "the dominions are being kept fully informed."

A foreign office spokesman who subsequently was asked whether the British guarantee to Poland applied to the free city of Danzig and Pomorze (the Polish corridor which separates East Prussia from the rest of Germany) said:

"That question should be addressed to the Polish government."

He added, however, that the An-

Terse Retort Is Expected By Adolf Hitler

Evident That Chamberlain Has Aroused Anger

BERLIN, March 31—(AP)—Adolf Hitler will have "plenty to say" at Wilhelemshaven tomorrow in reply to Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise to fight for Polish independence against aggression, responsible Nazi sources asserted today.

"The fuehrer will not be frightened by a British prime minister," these sources said.

Chamberlain's pronouncement was regarded as so important and weighty by the German government that it was more than doubtful whether any official reaction would come before Hitler himself discloses what he thinks.

Men usually charged with disseminating the government's viewpoint to the foreign press acknowledged frankly they must remain silent and let the fuehrer decide.

Believed Fuehrer Angered

DNB (official German news agency) issued a lengthy report of the prime minister's momentous statement to the British house of commons but the government radio had not mentioned it up to 5:30 p. m.

In government offices, especially those having anything to do with foreign policy, it was apparent, however, Hitler was believed to have been greatly angered.

The consensus was that the fuehrer could not tolerate such a development.

It was believed that having erected what he considers a strong eastern and southern front of friends — Italy, Hungary, Slovakia, Yugoslavia and Bohemia — Moravia — he can not afford to have Poland accepting British and French military aid.

To Speak At Launching

Hitler, therefore, was expected to formulate his address at the launching of the new 35,000 ton battleship Von Tirpitz at Wilhelmshaven in such a way Poland will realize she will make Germany her bitter enemy if she accepts British-French help.

In some German diplomatic quarters Britain was accused of reverting to an old trick — sowing seeds of discord on the continent.

A few hours before Chamberlain's speech the inspired Nazi press had initiated a new, vigorous anti-British campaign as a result of reports in London newspapers of alleged German troop movements and a German ultimatum to Poland.

"Lying English agitation . . . " the Lokal Anzeiger headlined its report.

"New English campaign of lies against Germany," was the Berliner Boersen Zeitung caption.

"Special instruction went out from Downing street because every newspaper from left to right contain the same statements, accusations and threats against Germany," the Allegemeine Zeitung had said.

Hogs At Lowest In Four Years

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., March 31—A drop of 10 to 20 cents in the hog market at the national stockyards sent prices today to the lowest point in more than four years.

A top of $7.10 to all interests, five cents below Wednesday's quotation, was the lowest here since Dec. 24, 1934, when $6.95 was paid.

Prices have steadily declined in the past month and livestock interests attributed the weakness to a continued large supply and the seasonal decline usually evident in the Lenten season.

Stocks Slump $1 To $6 A Share

NEW YORK, March 31—Values crumpled $1 to more than $6 a share under withering liquidation in the New York Stock Exchange today.

An early rally as Britain and France pledged to fight with arms any German thrust at Poland, firmed the list only temporarily. Prices teetered, then nose-dived in sterling vollies that forced the ticker several minutes behind dealings.

Where Justice Might Beget Injustice

On Congress, and on the legislature of every state which levies an income tax, now rests a grave duty.

Each should pass laws which will guarantee that injustice shall not proceed from the new decision of the U. S. Supreme Court permitting states to tax incomes of federal employes, and the federal government to tax salaries of state employes.

For, immediately the court reversed its long-time course supporting mutual immunity from such taxes, every person affected became theoretically liable for past taxes. That is, a federal employe who paid no state income tax in 1934, because the courts then ruled that he did not have to, now becomes liable for that same 1934 tax because the court now holds that he owed it.

It is easy to see how grave injustices might proceed from strict enforcement of any such procedure. To go back as far as 12 years in some cases, and say that a citizen must pay now, today, taxes for all those years when highest authority ruled he did not owe them, would be thoroughly unjust.

* * *

The constitution provides that no ex post facto law may be passed. That means a law may not be passed which today penalizes you for something you did yesterday but which was then quite legal. Yet it would seem that a court decision can have the same effect, making you liable today for something you did yesterday, even though the same court yesterday said you were not liable.

The remedy to prevent any such injustice seems to be for congress promptly to pass a law exempting state employes from back taxation and for such states as have income taxes to pass similar laws specifically exempting federal employes from similar back taxes.

* * *

General approval will probably meet the court's change of view. Good sense surely indicates that government employes, no less than the rest of us, ought to bear their share of maintaining the government. And few will share the old objection that allowing states to tax employes of federal government agencies, and the reverse, is striking at those governments themselves.

The decision is right and long-needed. But it ought not to be allowed to become an instrument of oppression in its first application.

To penalize a man today for an act, which, when he did it yesterday, was perfectly right and legal, is atrocious, and both federal and state governments owe a duty to head off any such unfortunate results of an otherwise sane decision.

American Emigrants?

The whole history of the United States has been a history of immigration.

The gradual filling of the vast spaces of the country by streams of people coming from all the world have made up America's story.

Now it is possible that another chapter will be added which will be quite different. Brazil may open its gates to immigrants from the United States.

Thousands of letters have been received asking about living standards, climate, opportunities, and plans are being made which may open free land grants in the states of Sao Paulo and Parana to farm immigrants from the United States.

While it seems unlikely that any large number of Americans will turn immediately to Brazil for their future, some may do so.

If they do, we may in our own time witness the turning of the tide of population flow, and watch it recede from the shore where for so long it rose higher with the years.

Ticket For Hat

Once in a while a rare spirit leaps to transitory fame by doing something that all of us have wished for years that we had the nerve and the means to do.

Such a man appeared in Nashvill, Tenn., the other day and asked for two tickets to a wrestling show. Because there was a difference in price, the ticket-seller asked if the extra ticket was for another man or for a woman.

"For neither," said Mr. Individual. "It's for my hat. Better give me two men's tickets, because it's a man's hat."

Every theatre patron who has spent an evening juggled hat and coat on precarious knee will vote for immortality for this free soul.

Extravagant? Silly? Yes, but we'll bet this fellow will feel a little better all his life for having once done what he wanted to do!

Lots Of Eudemonists

Will Hays, whose job is to keep the movies pure, knows all the big words. He needs them all.

In his annual report on the industry, he launched a dandy. The popularity of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs in a world devoted to isms an dschisms, shows,

Ah, there, Will! Eudemonists, eh! Well our trusty old dog-eared dictionary informs us that eudemonists are people who think it is worth while to work for happiness as a very fine thing in itself. So movies which help to give people a few moments of happiness are still popular, even if they don't get down to grips with heavy social problems.

Yes, Will, there are still a lot of people who go to the movies to be amused. But probably not one in a hundred suspected that he was just an old eudemonist.

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

Ever since the session began, the boys have been trying to squirm off the hook regarding their Townsend campaign promises. This is particularly true of those Republicans with presidential ambitions, who are fearful that their Townsendism will boomerang.

Recently, therefore, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and other Townsendite leaders secretly proposed to the Doctor that he come out for a compromise whereby Social Security pensions would be upped to a flat $45 per month. The Senators argued that there was no hope of putting his scheme through this session, so the logical thing to do was to back a plan that did have a chance.

But the aged "funny money" crusader grimly set his cadaverous jaw. To all entreaties he replied, "Nope, no deals. It's either all or nothing."

Townsend knows full well that his panacea has no chance in this Congress. That doesn't bother him at all, and he sees no reason to compromise. He is in no hurry. A compromise would wash up his movement and him as a political whip-cracker. He is counting on a turndown this Congress and already is building castles in the sky for 1940.

"We'll not only capture both the House and Senate next year," he is telling intimates, "but also elect our President. They can't beat us, and then we'll rule the roost and make them come to us."

Townsend is as much a headache to Democratic leaders as to the GOP.

They have been wondering for weeks whether to kill his bill in the House Appropriations Committee or allow it to be voted down in the open House. Some are for reporting it out, in order to put the Republicans on the spot. Others point out that is a knife that cuts both ways.

Inner circle advisers urge that the bill be stalled in committee until near the end of the session, when all important legislation has been disposed of, and then kill it in committee. They argue that although this strategy will save the Republicans from embarrassment, it will also save a lot of Jittery Democratic hides, also prevent Townsend from obtaining a count of noses and claiming he is within sight of victory.

Britain and USA

Sir Willmott Lewis, astute colrespondent of The London Times, was addressing the Army War College on the international situation. The War College is made up of the alleged best minds in the Army, and after each lecture the officers put the lecturer through a stiff cross-examination.

"Can you tell us, Sir Willmott," asked a colonel, "how long Great Britain will continue to expect the United States to pull her chestnuts out of the fire?"

"As long," replied Sir Willmott, "as the United States relies on Great Britain as her second line of defense."

Marine Corps Politics

It looks as if the Marine brass hats were ganging up on Colonel Charley Price, the new Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps.

Colonel Price is the man who commanded the Fourth Marine Corps Regiment in Shanghai during the tense days of the Japanese bombardment, previously ran the Nicaraguan elections and has held many important foreign posts. Like Smedley Butler in his daring, but with more balance, he is considered one of the smartest men on the active list. But he doesn't hesitate to express his opinion of stupidity, and therefore has aroused the antagonism of various superiors.

Result is that Price has been ordered to Washington on unimportant routine, and word is that the next Marine Corps selection board will not promote him.

Note—It was in Charley Price's tool shop in Quantico many years ago that Bob Burns of Arkansas put a couple of pipes together to make his first bazooka.

Lobbyists

Here are the ideas of Washington's Senator Homer Bone on lobbyists, expressed as he came blowing out of the Senate chamber after an encounter with a series of them:

"Peace, peace, when there is no peace! You can't see day-light between the tail feathers of one and the panting nostrils of the next!"

Sick New Dealers

No matter what you think about their politics, you have to admit that some of the men around the White House actually have sliced years off their lives for the man they serve.

Three instances are noteworthy: Marvin McIntyre, secretary to Roosevelt; Harry Hopkins, Secretary of Commerce; and Tom Corcoran. No. 1 Brain Truster. All have seriously, perhaps permanently impaired their health through the wear and tear of White House service.

It is known only to his close friends, but McIntyre probably will never come back to the White House. The President ordered his frail aide to take a physical examination last December, but Mac demurred. At last the President told the Navy doctors to take Mac by main force, if necessary, and examine him.

Result of this examination was alarming. It showed signs of tuberculosis. Doctors ordered Mac to leave Washington for a dry climate—and leave immediately. But Mac hung on. For two months he refused to leave his job, until finally the President forced him to rest in the North Carolina mountains.

Roosevelt, who is as devoted to Mac as Mac is to him, probably will continue him officially as secretary for the remainder of his term.

Another White House casualty is Tom Corcoran, who has been laid up in the hospital and in Florida for nearly two months. Few people outside the White House realize the long hours Corcoran kept, or the intense pressure under which he worked. Seldom did he finsih before 1 or 2 in the morning, and it was not uncommon for him to work all night long when a presidential speech had to be rushed out.

Only 38 years old, Corcoran eventually cracked under the strain, hasn't been well since his appendix operation in February.

Another White House physical casualty is Harry Hopkins, now laid up with a renewal of his old attack of stomach ulcers. Although a young man, Hopkins has aged ten years during the hectic five years he spent organizing and administering Work Relief.

Fellowship of Prayer

Watch The Fire

Friday, March 31. For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power and of love and of a sound mind. Read I Timothy 1:7-10.

Timothy's trouble seems to have been timidity. Fear was putting his fire out. Fear does bank the fires of life but, by a strange contradiction, it also kindles fires of its own. Hatred, for example, and all that hatred engenders, are terribly consuming fires and the psychologists tell us that most hatreds are the result of fear. Intensity of passion and purpose is a kindling force but intensities can go tragically wrong. We need to watch our fires.

Love, the Apostle says, is the only sure control of zeal. Power is a divine gift but power uncontrolled by good-will, undirected by a disciplined mind, may destroy its possessors. Which is what power seems dangerously in the way of doing for us. If only love had the equal of the armaments and the enthusiasm which pride and evil passions seem to control, how changed our world would be.

Prayer: O Thou Who hath saved and called us with a holy calling, save us now from every power which does not acknowledge the mastery of love. Illumine our wisdom with a clear light and through our fear of forsaking Thee, may we be delivered from all other fears. Amen.

The first American almanac was published by William Pierce, of Cambridge, Mass., in 1630.

● SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

* * *

Yesterday: Alan decides at the last moment not to go to St. Louis because his patients need him. Emily is furious. As Alan leaves for the hospital, she calls Eric Kane, tells him she is leaving Alan, that she wants him to come down at once.

CHAPTER XIII

IF Emily had expected her blunt statement to surprise Eric, she was not disappointed.

"You're doing what?" he shouted over the wire.

"I'm leaving Alan," she repeated. "I'll explain when you get here."

"But I can't leave the dam now, Emily. Things are in bad shape here. The water is rising—"

"Please, Eric." The appeal in her voice could not be denied. "You are the only person I could turn to. I need you."

"Well . . . all right. I'll be there within an hour."

BUT it was almost two hours before she let him in the door, wet and dripping. His clothes, his boots were mud spattered. There were dark circles under his eyes, as if he had not slept for nights.

The moment he saw her all the love he had tried so hard to put from him, claimed him again. She was so small, so helpless, so forlornly alone. Her eyes were red from weeping, but she managed a wry smile as he took her hands. Eric wanted to enfold her in his arms, comfort her, tell her of his love. Instead he said:

"Just what is this all about? What's this about your leaving Alan?" He tried to make his voice sound stern, matter of fact.

"It's true," Emily answered. "I am leaving. I'll go back to St. Louis, then to Reno. I can't go on here."

"What happened, Emily? Why this sudden decision? Don't rush into anything you'll regret later."

"I know what I'm doing—and I won't regret it, Eric. Alan turned down the chance to go to St. Louis tonight. Wired Dr. Peterson that he was staying in Sumner. . . . Well—I'm not!" Emily's eyes blazed.

"It's been wrong ever since I came here. You saw only a little of it, while you were here—it's been like that for a year—"

Self-pity welled up within her. Eric listened understandingly while she poured out her story of that hateful year—a year of loneliness and discontent. Try as he would to defend Alan's actions, Eric found himself admitting that Emily's decision was not without justification. He let her talk on and on, and her returning composure was his reward.

A SUDDEN meeting, a girl he could not forget, and a blizzard had drawn him, as if by fate, into the tangled pattern of their lives. What role was he to play? Would Alan believe that he had nothing to do with Emily's decision? Was there any hope of the future—with Emily? Could he face Alan, secretly happy, as he had to admit he was, that Emily soon would be free? Emily's voice was lost in the flood of questions that assailed him. Suddenly he realized that she had stopped speaking.

"What do you plan to do, Emily?" he asked.

"Reno, first; after that, I suppose I'll go back home and try to pick up where I left off a year ago. Work and play can make one forget."

A question trembled on Eric's lips. He did not want to ask it, but he could not help himself. Loving Emily, he had to know.

"Is there any place in your plans for me?" he asked slowly.

"Frankly, Eric, I don't know." Eric knew she was telling the truth. "Please don't forget me; please don't leave me to face it alone. Together, perhaps, we can find the old gang and all the old fun at home again. You will help me, won't you?"

"I want to marry you, Emily," he said simply.

"You're sweet, and kind, Eric," Emily said. "But I'm not sure. Right now I'm still married to Alan—and I'm still in love with him. That sound's funny, doesn't it? But it is true. One can't idolize a man for five years and then suddenly get over it all at once.

"Ever since we came to Sumner, Alan apparently has been trying to kill my love for him. Love can't last forever if it is not returned. Alan's profession, not his wife, is his real love. His practice always comes first; I really don't matter much to him. Even tonight, when I needed him most, he left me."

"He's a doctor, Emily. Did you expect him to stay?"

"No. . . . But you—you were having trouble at the dam, you are not my husband—yet when I called you . . . you came."

"I'll always be here if you need me. I love you, Emily."

"I know you do, Eric. . . . That's why it's so difficult to tell you—to ask you to wait, just a little longer."

* * *

"BUT there's one thing I must do," Eric said. "I have to tell Alan. He must know that I love you. I can't have him thinking that I came into his home and deliberately tried to steal his wife—"

"He knows. . . . I told him that you had kissed me, the night of the dance. And he doesn't blame you, Eric," Emily continued. "It was your kiss, I am sure, that brought him to his senses, made him accept Dr. Peterson's offer. He wrote the letter the next day. But when the time came to sign the contract, to get away from Sumner, he wouldn't do it. He never will."

"Don't judge too hastily," Eric advised. "If the thought that you—that some other man was in love with you—made him accept the offer, maybe the threat of a divorce will make him change his mind."

"You don't know Alan," Emily said. "He's made up his mind and nothing will ever change him. After I told him I was leaving, there was still time to catch the midnight train—still time to reach Dr. Peterson. But he went to the hospital. No, Eric, if our marriage is to go on, I'll have to be the one to give in; Alan never will."

Yes, Emily was right. If there was to be any surrender, she must make it. Alan was staying in Sumner, with or without Emily.

And if Emily did not surrender, if she did get her divorce, could he even hope—? Eric put the selfish thought from his mind. His dreams, his future had no place here. First he must make every effort to save Alan's home.

That Galahad spirit must be contagious, he thought, smiling. But it was not being Galahad alone that made him want to do all in his power to hold Emily and Alan together. If the break did come, Emily must be thoroughly convinced that it was all over—that there would be no returning. Only when she was certain of that, only when she was sure that all her love for Alan was dead, would she turn to Eric. Right now she regarded him as her best friend, a friend who sympathized, who understood. That was the role in which she had cast him; that was the role he must accept, for a time at least.

* * *

HE hardly noticed when Emily left the room to answer the doorbell, so engrossed was he in his thoughts. Then he heard Dr. Farrell's voice, echoing throughout the house. Farrell here, too? What brought him?

Farrell greeted him without warmth. Eric could see that the doctor did not welcome his presence. But Farrell had little time for Kane. Almost savagely the old physician, now suddenly grown older, turned to Emily.

""My God, Emily," he asked, his voice trembling with emotion, "what have you done to Alan?"

Several Talks Before Club

The Sedalia Speakers club held its open meeting Thursday night at the court house. An interesting and entertaining program was presented for the merchants and the guests of the members of the club.

The program was opened by the president, E. W. Kettleson, who spoke briefly on the club and its functions. He explained the purposes of the organization and extended an invitation to those present to join the Speakers' club. He then turned the meeting over to J. W. Dale, program chairman for the evening, who presented the following speakers: Edward Blake, speaking on "Has America Any Frontiers," Pat Handley, speaking on "The Human Side of Service," and Capt. Eugene Hansman speaking on "The Spirit Of Education." Philip Kain reviewed the work covered thus far in the text "Public Speaking" by Dale Carnegie and explained how it was used by the club.

The extemporaneous talks were the source of much entertainment for the visitors and guests. Speakers were called to the platform and selected a subject on which they were to give a three minute talk. Inasmuch as no preparation on these subjects was possible by the speaker, his talk was dependent on his presence of mind and ability to think on his feet. In spite of these handicaps, the talks were both interesting and entertaining. Speakers who participated and their subjects: "Sam Harlan on "Should Intercollegiate Football Be Abolished;" Dick Keenan on "The Desirability Of Easy Credit;" James Atkison on "The Power of Suggestion;" Tom Yount on "Should Sedalia Have a CCC Camp?;" Frank Hanigan on "Patronizing Our Home Town Merchants;" Dr. Keller on "Should We Ban Subversive Organizations."

Chairman Dale then explained the club's method of criticism and how it was applied. Several of the guests were given criticism sheets and were asked to criticize the main speakers.

After announcing the program and speakers for next Thursday's meeting, the program was closed promptly at 9 o'clock.

Grocers Meeting

A meeting for all grocers and grocer employes was held by Armour and Company at the St. Francis hotel Thursday night. Two moving pictures were shown.

Correction in A and P Ad

Through error the prices on Lux or Lifebuoy Toilet Soap should have been 4 bars 22c, and the price of Oxydol or Rinso Soap Powder should have been 2 large packages 35c instead of the prices quoted in the A. and P. Food Mart advertisement Thursday evening and Friday morning. The Mart is located at Third street and Osage avenue in Sedalia.

The price of ham slices in Bixler's food advertisement this week should have been 15c each and not pound.—Adv.

Gene Autrey and Maxine Doyle

Gene Autry comes to the Uptown screen tonight and tomorrow in his harmonious "Roundup Time In Texas" singing his way from Texas to Africa in a drama of guns and diamonds and the diabolical plots of the men who would gain possession of a vast fortune in precious stones. Co-feature is "International Settlement," a dramatic photoplay based on the war in China. Tonight only, brings to the stage the increasingly popular "Search For Talent Program."

This program is bringing out some exceptionally talented players, and it is expected that when the final show is held and the final winner is selected, that a new radio discovery will be announced with the road to fame and fortune thrown open to some deserving contestant. A real old-fashioned square dance with regular caller and swingy old-time fiddlin' music is scheduled as part of the program tonight.

Slambang Comedy In New Film

Loretta Young and Warner Baxter romp through a blithesome, blissful, catch-as-catch-can romance in "Wife, Husband and Friend," the 20th Century-Fox comedy, which opens at the Liberty theatre on Sunday.

The film marks the second appearance of Loretta and Warner as a co-starring team.

The sparkling story casts Loretta as gay, beautiful young wife and Baxter is her debonair and ardent husband.

All is bliss until Loretta's friend and music teacher, Cesar Romero, convinces her she can and should sing. She does, to hubby Warner's dismay. Then he finds a friend in need in a beautiful opera singer played by Binnie Barnes. Because she convinces him that he can sing and should, if only to turn the tables on friend wife.

Things get madder and madder from this point on, until the perfect marriage is almost sacrificed on the altar of music. But all ends well in one of the funniest climaxes the screen has even shown.

It was in answer to a barrage of fan mail received at the studio after the release of "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," that Darryl F. Zanuck, production head of 20th Century-Fox, decided to reunite Loretta and Warner in another film.

Gregory Ratoff was selected to handle the megaphone on the picture, for the famous comedian who has become a successful director boasts the perfect sense of timing necessary to transposing the sparkling comedy to the screen.

The fine supporting cast is headed by Binnie Barnes, Cesar Romero, George Barbier, J. Edward Bromberg, Eugene Pallette and Helen Westley.

Program Before The Higgins PTA Friday

The Higgins school Parent and Teacher association met Friday night, the vice president, Miss Edna Buffon presiding.

After a short business meeting there was a short program, songs "Long, Long Ago," and "Stars Of a Summer Night," by the audience and a musical program by Norvella Charles, Sally Higgins, Marshall Dickerson and Bob King.

Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be April 28.

According to mortality records, quarry work is more dangerous than mining in England.

British Also The French Would Go To Poland's Aid

glo-French guarantees did not preclude the possibility of German-Polish discussions about Danzig and the corridor and indicated that the British government hoped normal talks would take place on those phases of the situation.

It generally was expected that Polish, British and French military authorities would meet soon to draft a specific plan of military action in event Poland should be attacked following Chamberlain's declaration.

Contact With Russia

He disclosed that Britain also was in close contact with Soviet Russia in reaching the momentous decision.

"The foreign secretary (Viscount Halifax) saw the Soviet ambassador (Ivan Maisky) this morning and had a very full discussion with him on the subject."

Later in reply to a laborite request "for an assurance that there are not . . . ideological impediments between ourselves and Russia," Chamberlain replied:

"Yes sir! I have no hesitation in giving that assurance."

Chamberlain said the British government was in touch with other European governments, besides Soviet Russia, in a wide attempt to curb aggression.

He specifically left the door open to the suggestion of Russia for a conference of powers but observed there might be other effective means for discussions among European nations.

The latter part of Chamberlani's statement was made in response to questions by Arthur Greenwood the deputy leader of the laborite opposition, who said:

"May I say in one sentence that I am quite sure that this house realizes the potentialities that may arise from the statement of the prime minister.

"It may prove to be in its consequence as momentous a statement as has been made in this house for a quarter of a century.

"It is very difficult with such recent statements before the house to say very much, but I ask whether this statement which he has now made is to be regarded as the first step in a developing policy to deter or restrain aggression?"

A long meeting of the cabinet foreign affairs committee and an extraordinary session of the cabinet at the house of commons preceded the statement by the 70-year-old prime minister.

Chamberlain, fumbling with his spectacles and waving his hands, read his declaration in clipped tones.

The house of commons was jammed.

It was the first time outside of the league of nations Britain ever gave a bilateral guarantee to any country east of the Rhine.

Chamberlain said his government had no confirmation of rumors of any projected attack on Poland.

However, he made it plain that while consultations were proceeding with Soviet Russia and other governments on the question of broad stand against aggression, the British and French armed forces would go to Poland's aid if that country resisted aggression.

Greenwood, in his questioning of the prime minister, urged cooperation with Soviet Russia and other powers and suggested "an immediate conference of those powers who may be prepared to range themselves on the side of peace as against aggression."

Chamberlain, in beginning his momentous statement before the house of commons, declared:

"The British government has constantly advocated adjustment by way of free negotiation between the parties concerned of any differencies that may arise between them."

Hail Aid Promise

WARSAW, March 31—(AP)—Polish government sources today hailed Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise of military assistance to preserve Poland's independence as likely to make Nazi Germany abandon any idea she may have had of obtaining Polish territory by threat of force.

The promise of military aid from both Britain and France came in the midst of intensive foreign office consultations preparing for foreign Minister Joseph Beck's scheduled visit to London next week.

The foreign office mouthpiece had implied Poland would accept a military alliance with Britain and France if Adolf Hitler refused Poland's appeal for a pledge to respect Polish rights and frontiers.

Appeal To Germany

WARSAW, March 31.—An appeal to Germany to promise respect for Poland's rights and frontiers was made today by the organ of the Polish foreign office.

The foreign office mouthpiece implied that Poland would accept an alliance with Britain and France should Reichsfuehrer Hitler refuse the appeal.

An inspired article in the newspaper Kurjer Czerwony made it clear Poland hoped to come to an understanding with Germany without entering a bloc against her but she was prepared to do so if German guarantees were not forthcoming.

Poland, whose traditional policy has been to strike a balance between her Soviet Russian and German neighbors, has been in informal negotiations with Germany, seeking a guarantee of her vital economic interest in the free city of Danzig.

The government was expressed hope that an agreement be reached to save Poland from entering what Germany might consider a "provocative bloc."

Sources close to the government said Poland hoped Germany would give promises before Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, starts his conversations in London on Monday.

Should Germany refuse, it was predicted in some quarters, Poland would sign a "stop Hitler" treaty with Britain, France and Rumania.

She already has a military agreement with France dating from 1921 and another with Rumania which, however, is directed only at Soviet Russia.

Intensive consultations were in progress at the foreign office today in preparation for Foreign Minister Beck's visit to London to discuss a possible change in policy toward Germany.

Stiffen Resistance

ROME, March 31.—Fascists expressed belief today that Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise of British-French aid to Poland would stiffen Polish resistance to any German demands.

Italy was described as "anxiously awaiting" to hear Poland's and particularly Germany's reaction to the declaration.

Italians have expected Germany to limit her claims to the free city of Danzig and a link with East Prussia through the Polish corridor.

Those who usually express authoriative views said they could understand Germany's desire to bridge the gap between East Prussia and the main body of Adolf Hitler's expanding realm.

Stark Charges 'Slush Fund' To Defeat Bill

liquor control supervisor Walker Pierce, who organized the raids.

Arouses Bitter Debate

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's assertion that Kansas City gamblers were building a $175,000 slush fund to fight his police control bill was branded "a damnable slander" on the house floor today during a bitter debate peppered with denunciations of the chief executive.

The sudden outburst came as the chamber was preparing to adjourn for the week-end.

Rep. John D. Taylor (D) Keytesville, started it with an assertion he had been "unable to find a single member of this body who has received a letter" from Otto P. Higgins, Kansas City police director. Governor Stark charged yesterday Higgins was circularizing the Assembly with letters opposing the police bill.

While member after member stood to say he had not received the letters, Rep. Will Dodson (R) Dadeville, walked quietly to the press table and laid before reporters two mineographed slips, signed by voters in his district, asking him to oppose the police bill. Rep. Leonidas King (R) Camden county, said he had received such a letter from a Kansas City police officer.

House Passes $100,000,000 Bill For Relief

legislators from industrial areas who helped kill a $250,000,000 appropriation for farm parity payments earlier in the week, showed signs, however, of lessened hostility to the $150,000,000.

Support for the highest amount that can be appropriated for WPA came from a Republican, Rep. then predicted that "WPA will be his support with reluctance.

"It is a sad commentary on the recovery efforts of the administration," Maas said.

Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) noted that WPA has put on 1,215 stage shows at a cost of $48,000,000 and Maas (R-Minn) who said he gave again knocking at the doors of congress for untold millions."

President's Roosevelt's latest request was for a $150,000,000 supplementary fund. The bill reported to the floor carries $100,000,000 and some opponents are trying to cut it as low as $55,000,000.

Predicts Compromise

Rep. Mapes (R-Mich) declared the smaller figure would have the support of 90 per cent of the Republican members.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) predicted, however, a compromise figure of $100,000,000 would be approved. That was the sum agreed upon by the administration leadership under pressure of economy advocates, and recommended by the appropriations committee.

Meanwhile, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) suggested congress direct the WPA not to lay off any relief workers until the pending appropriation is disposed of.

A cut of 400,000 has been ordered for next week, but it was understood Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator might delay this.

Leaders said the senate could take up the appropriation bill early next week. Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said he believed some of the senators who voted for Mr. Roosevelt's original request of $875,000,000 — which congress trimmed by $150,000,000 — now would accept $100,000,000 additional provided that was the sum the house put through.

Senator King (D-Utah) introduced yesterday a bill to abolish the WPA and the National Youth Administration and provide instead for the president to make relief allocations direct to the states "on the basis of need."

House sponsors of the movement for a $55,000,000 appropriation said it grew out of a report by the appropriations committee that if the WPA got an additional $100,000,000, it still would have $45,706,455 more than was absolutely necessary to continue operations at the present level.

During turbulent debate on the bill yesterday many members, however, held out for the full amount of $150,000,000.

"If we don't get it," said Rep. Sweeney (D-Ohio) "we'll have riots. We might even have revolution."

'Cotton Ed' In The 'Dog House'

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—"What's the use?" inquired Senator Smith (D-SC). "I'm in the dog house."

Smith, known among his colleagues as "Cotton Ed," was speaking his mind in the senate yesterday about spending "billions in largess" for relief.

"I am in the dog house," repeated the veteran senator whose renomination President Roosevelt had opposed. "All I can do is to stick my head out and bark. Yes—and whenever they get too close to me, I want to bite."

Relief billions, Smith contended, are being spent "not for the welfare of America but to corral votes for somebody to warm these seats.

"I despair of ever getting back to the old horse and buggy days, but I would rather be in the horse and buggy age than be in the jackass age."

File Five Suits In Circuit Court

Five suits were filed in the circuit court this afternoon, which will be on the docket for the May term of court. Saturday is the last day on which suits, which are to be tried in May, may be filed and defendants served with a thirty days summons.

A petition for damages filed by Pansy Jones against Kalo Monsees, asks for $10,000, alleging her husband, the late Rollie Jones, died from injuries suffered when struck by a car driven by Monsees. The petition states that the accident occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock at night, February 14, 1939, on highway 65, south of Sedalia.

Fred F. Wesner is attorney for the plaintiff.

Alonzo Downs asks for $2,500 from George Chambers, alleging that he suffered injuries in an automobile collision, between a car in which the defendant was driving and one he (the plaintiff) was driving. The accident, the petition states, occurred February 27, 1939, at the intersection of Tenth street and Kentucky avenue.

Lamm and Barnet are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Carl G .Schrader filed a suit on a mechanic's lien against Tom Ware, Olive Ware, Third National Bank, a corporation and James T. Montgomery, trustee. He asks for $186.76, alleged due for brick, lime, cement and other merchandise, and he asks that if a judgment cannot be satisfied that said judgment be levied on property in Crescent Hill, described in the petition.

Eric R. Heimsoth and Johanna Heimsoth filed a $10,000 damage suit against Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation. The plaintiffs allege that their son, Vernon A. Heimsoth, aged 16, was killed when struck by a train operated by the defendant company, as he was walking across a track in Waverly, Mo., June 21, 1938.

Frank W. Hayes and H. K. Bente are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Frank Buchanan asks for $1,500 from the City of Sedalia, alleging that he suffered injuries February 10, 1935, when he stepped upon the lid of a meter box in the parkway in front of the property at 521 West Fifth street, and that the lid gave way and slipped from the box.

Frank W. Hayes is attorney for the plaintiff.

Suit Against The City For Damages

A damage suit was filed in the circuit court today by Clara M. Perry, A. J. Perry, Dennis Curran and Agnes Curran against the City of Sedalia and Davis Construction Company, a corporation.

The plaintiffs ask for $3,500 alleging property they own near Broadway and Lafayette was damaged by the construction of the underpass.

H. T. Williams represents the plaintiffs.

Bill Intact For Band To Fairs

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—(AP)—The $16,420 item to send the University of Missouri 65-piece band to the world's fairs at New York and San Francisco this summer remained intact in the perfected house appropriations bill on educational institutions today.

An attempt of Rep. Fred O. McGuire (D), Trenton, to strike the money out of the measure was defeated last night by a voice vote.

"This is simply a vacation for these boys," he asserted. "I like to have some one send me to both fairs this summer with all my expenses paid, too."

Appropriations chairman John D. Taylor (D), Keytesville, said "nothing could advertise Missouri better than to send this fine group" to the two expositions.

"Isn't it true," he asked McGuire, "that you want to take this $16,000 away from the band and use it for a park in Grundy County?"

No other amendment was offered to the measure before it was perfected for passage. It carried funds for M. U., the five state teachers colleges, the School of Mines at Rolla and Lincoln (Negro) University.

The general revenue appropriation in the bill for the University of Missouri is $4,247,863, including $250,000 for crippled children work.

Italy Ready To Wait On Claims

REGGIO, Calabria, Italy, March 31—(AP)—Premier Mussolini said in a speech here today that Italians were "ready to wait" for fulfilment of their claims on France.

Fascists are thinking in terms of decades, he said.

Foreign observers regard the statement as a further indication that Italy intended to avoid a crisis over African colonial claims on France, while trying to settle them by diplomatic means.

Mussolini told wildly cheering Fascists he had little to add to his speech in Rome last Sunday, in which he identified the French-Italian problem as Tunisia, Jibuti, and the Suez canal.

Premier Daladier of France, in response to the Sunday speech, let the Duce know that France was awaiting clarification of the Italian demands.

The crowd booed and whistled when Mussolini spoke of "stupid people beyond the Alps, who say the Italian people are growing away from the Fascist regime.

"Some weak-minded people beyond the Alps, confusing their desires with reality, have invented the fable of growing away of the Italian people from the regime," he said.

"Your whistling in their eardrums will show them exactly the contrary is true.

"The people and the regime are one. Armed forces and the people are one. And these Italian people are ready to put the knapsack on their backs since all young peoples do not fear combat and are certain of victory."

Mussolini spoke after dedicating a monument to world war dead, while machine guns rattled a salute.

The second play, a short one act one, "The Reducing Chair," was presented by E. F. Rissler, D. F. Wasson, T. E. Hoke, Mrs. Mildred Fisher, Mrs. E. T. Patterson, Nadine and Fern Clevenger and a group "attending the fair."

Specialties during the evening were:

"Sweet Evalina" and "Gold Mine In The Sky," sung by T. E. Hoke, Cletis Allen, Harold Williams and D. F. Wasson.

"A Tisket, a Tasket," by Fern and Nadine Clevenger.

"You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby," Billy Williams.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," and "You're the Only Star in the My Blue Heaven," Harold Clevenger, Billy Williams and Billy Dale Patterson.

"Where There's You, There's Me," by Mary Kathryn Wade, Norma Lee Williams, Eugene Holman and Arthur Anderson.

"Riding Down the Canyon," and "Somebody's Old Fashioned Sweet Heart," by Elmer Lee Patterson, Arthur Anderson, Eugene Holman, Russell Fisher, Mary Kathryn Wade and Norma Lee Williams.

A nickle supper was served to the large crowd.

Damages Asked In A Suit Filed

A $1,500 damage suit was filed in the circuit court Thursday afternoon by Betty Anderson, aged 11 years, through her mother, Marie Anderson against the City of Sedalia. The petition alleged that the child suffered injuries last December 17, when the lid on a manhole adjacent to the Messerly building, Second street and Kentucky avenue, slipped as she stepped on it. She alleges further that she suffered injuries to her feet and legs.

Frank Hayes is attorney for the plaintiff.

Washtub Clipper Carries On

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 31.—(AP)—Skipper Lloyd Thompson, 27, who conceived an ambitious plan to sail to world's fair fame in a washtub, set forth on the turbulent Mississippi again Thursday, promptly met rebuff, but, undaunted, proclaimed firm intention to continue.

The "washtub" clipper — an ordinary galvanized washtub with a large inner tube encircling the rim—foundered under Harahan bridge when the tube blew out.

Quick work by Woodrow Wilson, under-officer who follows the tub in the other half of the fleet, a mere canoe, saved the skipper. Wilson fished Thompson aboard. They went to a riverside coal yard, steamed out their clothes and announced they would get a clipper II, and continue their trip to New Orleans.

Thompson left his home at St. Louis January 29, and Wilson joined him at Cairo. A series of mishaps have dogged the expedition but they've mastered them all.

The idea? A sponsor who will send them to the New York fair and place the clipper on exhibition. They'd thought about an inner tube manufacturer until today's blowout.

It might have to be a washtub company now.

Senator Legislates Against Fish Gulpers

BOSTON, March 31.—(AP)—In the wake of an epidemic of gold fish gobbling by college students, a Massachusetts state senator sought a legislative investigation Thursday to protect the fish from cruel and wanton consumption.

The order, filed by Senator George Krapf (R.-Pittsburg), authorized a department of conservation to investigate consumption of live gold fish by college students or others and would authorize the department to make any revision of law "necessary to preserve, conserve and protect the breeding grounds of goldfish x x x and protect them from cruel and wanton consumption."

Discover Get-Away Car Of 'Bomb Terror'

CHANUTE, Kas., March 31—(AP)—Police Chief Lee Knapp announced last night Arkansas officers had notified him of discovery in Fayetteville of the motor car in which John Thornburg fled Monday after his dynamite holdup of the First National Bank of Chanute.

Sheriff Herbert Lewis called Knapp from Fayetteville. He said the motor car, identified through license plates, had been abandoned on a Fayetteville street since Tuesday. It was not picked up until tonight.

The car was a taxicab which Thornburg stole from Ward Lee Scott after forcing Scott and Joe F. Balch, city attorney, to accompany him to the edge of town.

Thornburg, who staged the robbery with a dynamite bomb taped to his abdomen, has not been sighted definitely since he fled. One motorist reported later Monday a car resembling that in which Thornburg escaped had forced him from the highway near Salina.

Letters Against State Control Of Police

KANSAS CITY, March 31—(AP)—The Star said tonight a staff of 14 clerks, including eight national administration employes, worked at police headquarters today writing letters on stationery of five Kansas City firms urging legislators to oppose Gov. Lloyd Stark's request for the transfer of Kansas City police control to the governor.

The letters were being written on letter heads of firms which do business with the police department.

Otto P. Higgins, police director, said the letters were being written in cooperation with the various firms. He would not comment on the use of NYA employes.

M. U. Coed Swallows A Goldfish

COLUMBIA, MO., March 31—(AP)—Marie Hansen, University of Missouri, coed today swallowed a goldfish and claimed the National women's intercollegiate goldfish eating championship.

"It wasn't so bad," the titlist and only woman known to have swallowed a live goldfish, said.

"If men in the eastern schools can have their champion, I think the women of the west can have one too."

"I think the present man's record is 25 fish, but I challenge a college girl to swallow more than one."

A senior from Memphis, Tenn., Miss Hansen washed the fish down with a glass of water, ate a slice of bread and left a campus "jelly" joint for class.

Stocks Down In Heavy Selling

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—Heaviest selling in five months today smashed stock market prices 1 to more than 6 points as Wall Street's fright over Europe apparently turned an early rallying attempt into a disorderly retreat.

Traders were heartened for a brief moment in the first hour by the declaration of Prime Minister Chamberlain before parliament that Great Britain and France would fight to preserve Polish independence while pursuing means of stabilizing the shaky political structure abroad.

Gains ran to a point or so for leaders at the start, but the forward move soon gave way to a blast of offerings that put the ticker tape several minutes behind. There were subsequent slow-downs, but weakness again developed in the fourth and final hours and the ticker tape once more was unable to keep pace with dealings. Blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares were numerous. Transfers for the day were around 3,000,000 shares.

Palm Sunday — The Festival of Hope

Palm Sunday is the anniversary from which Christian courage and hope should spread like the sunlight across the morning's horizon. The triumphal entry has never yet been comprehended adequately. For weary years the Christian world has encountered and been hindered by a sinister sense of defeatism. Struggle against powers of evil, though determined, has not been marked by thrilling victories.

There was no doubt in the mind of Christ, however, about his ultimate triumph. Men might fail him that week but he would not fail. Those who go with him find life everlasting and eternal victory. Those who oppose, live among the ruins and die the death of the doomed who cannot live without him.

Palm Sunday should inspire us to rededicate ourselves to Him whereever He may lead, knowing that our march with Him will be triumphant. Why not accept the invitation to COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Family Night In Revival

(By Church Reporter)

Thursday evening was "Family Night" at the First Baptist church with a large attendance.

George Reynolds gave a very impressive solo. The crowds thoroughly enjoyed his tenor voice.

R. W. Leazer, pastor, spoke on the subject, "The Imperative Now" taken from scriptures John 15:3 and Hebrews 3:7-8.

"Now we are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you." John 15:3.

"If we, as children of God, are going to render service unto our Lord and Master, we must do it now. Years ago in a certain country, it was the custom that if any child was found begging on the street they would be arrested immediately and taken to an institution where they were to receive an education. No begging was allowed on the street. The first thing they did was to have their portrait made in their begging clothes. They wanted them in after years to see what they were when they came to that institution. Then, when they had finished they made another portrait and gave to that person the two portraits and sent him forth that he might look back on the condition which he was and with great gratitude in his heart, speak a word for that institution. How much this story is like the life of a Christian. Once we were dead in trespasses and in sin; once we were in the rags of self-righteousness; once we were in the faith of sin—blind and helpless—and there came a time when the Holy Spirit arrested us and carried us to the great Physician, the Great Institution. There with an indelible picture of our sins we confessed them unto God and received the forgiveness of sin. Thus this scripture, 'Ye are cleaned by the word.' The Christian, as did that young person, goes forth with gratitude in his heart and carries with him the fact that he has been cleansed by the blood of Jesus Christ. It is now God is calling every single child—not tomorrow when he has thrown away his time and talent on the things of the world. The other scripture, Hebrews 3:7-8, "Today if ye will head His voice, harden not your hearts as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness."

There is a story told of an ancient king who had a way of securing loyalty. He sent out messengers all over the country saying that he was going to hang lamps in the palace and that every criminal in that domain who came and confessed his crime would be pardoned, if in so doing he would swear allegiance to the king. They came from all corners of the world, but there were some who delayed to go. Other things took their attention and they reached the palace too late. The lamps were out; they met a terrible death. How true it fits the situation of the world today. God has hung out a lamp and it is hanging today. If you come and repent of your sin; acknowledge Christ as your Lord then ye will be pardoned and have an everlasting life. The greatest curse in all the world when it comes to accepting Christ is procrastination.

The evidences of a hardened heart are: When we find somebody who begins to excuse his sin; when one presumes that he can put off till late in life the matter of getting right with God. The hardness of heart can be removed by the word of God and by the cross of Jesus Christ. "I take away the heart of stone, and I give you a heart of flesh." "Believe in God and you will have everlasting life."

Tonight is young people's night. An interesting program has been planned. All are most cordially welcome.

Saul Becomes a New Man, Acts 9:1-19 for Sunday, April 2.

We have in this lesson the story of a wonderful conversion with the marks of character transformation which ought to be repeated in modern times.

V. 1. "And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest." Saul, a leader of the Sanhedrin was active in the persecution and the death of many Christians. Up to this time he though he was doing right. Right teaching and training is very fundamental. Having made havoc in persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem, Saul now seeks to carry on his work in other places getting permission to go as far as Damascus. Either a man gets more wicked all the time or better all the time; character does not stand still.

V. 3. "And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus; and suddenly there shined around about him a light from heaven." It being midday, the light that shone was supernatural, arresting Saul's attention. Giving heed to God is the first requisite to conversion.

V. 4. "And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecute thou me?" Falling in humble submission to God is another requisite to conversion. Another requisite is that of seeing our own sin. When Saul persecuted the Christians he was persecuting Christ. Only brotherly treatment of each other is allowed in God's program.

V. 5. "And he said, Who are thou Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou are persecuting? It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks." Christ reveals himself when a soul is truly seeking Him. In traveling the wrong way, sooner or later there will be found fruitless resistance to a superior power.

V. 6. "And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, "Arise and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do." It was here that Saul repented and was converted. From doing what he thought he ought to do, he turns to do what the Lord wants him to do. Instead of Jesus telling him what to do he reserves that work for one of his followers.

V. 8. "And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man; but they led him by the hand, and brought him to Damascus." Paul's intellectual and spiritual eyes were opened but his physical eyes were still blind. The body is often a handicap to the intellectual and spiritual but even then there are usually ways and means provided for progress.

V. 9. "And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink." In verse II it is stated that he prayed. When there is nothing else one can do, he can always pray which is the will of God.

V. 10. "And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord." Ananias was a man of humble position—he was never heard of after this event. No man is too humble to be used of the Lord.

V. 11. "And the Lord said unto him, Arise and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul, of Tarsus; for behold he prayeth." The directions are given in detail. God leaves nothing to chance.

V. 12. "And hath seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight." At the time Ananias was prepared to meet Saul, Saul was being prepared to meet Ananias. When God sends us he prepares the way before us.

V. 17. "And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me; that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost." The man who three days before was a pronounced persecutor of Jesus is now Brother Saul and an heir to the riches of grace all because he repented and was converted.

V. 18. "And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales; and he received sight forthwith, and arose and was baptized." Saul was now made a member of the Christian church and was accepted into Christian fellowship.

Clericus says, "The sin disease of the soul calls for a divine cure. External application fails to reach the trouble. Not even a psychologist with his efforts to adjust our minds, can straighten our crooked natures. It is not a psychiatrist that we need, but a Saviour."

Lesson Prayer: "We are grateful for a divine work of grace that changes a wicked man into a saint. We pray for the earnest of soul for God's kingdom, that we may be positive and forceful children of a loving Father."

BOOK REVIEW

The World's Religions, by Braden, The Cokesbury Press, is a brief but comprehensive history of all the great religions of the world, past and present. It is written in a popular but scholarly style, not apologetic but historical, passing no judgment, expressing no prejudice, but leaving the reader to form his own conclusions as to the value of each faith described. The book is unique in that it presents so much significant information concerning the world's religions, comprehensively and clearly in so little space.

THE BETTER WAY

In Tintoretto's painting of the crucifixion is discernable in the far shadows, a man on an ass pointing with his rod as if directing attention to the crosses on the hill in the distance. While he pauses, the ass he rides is feeding on remnants of withered palm branches. Palms a few days ago, when it was popular and safe to acclaim Christ as King; today, when discipleship has become difficult and dangerous disertion.

Christ is still marching forward into the life of our world in new and unexpected ways, overturning age-old customs, driving out practices of entrenched wrong, and stirring the opposition of selfish interests. Modern missions surely constitute such a march of Christ now, as do also the advancing movements toward economic justice and world peace. Are we really marching with him today? How far are we willing to go, marching with Jesus?

—From The Evangelical Messenger.

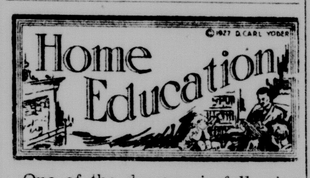
The National Conference of Christian and Jews sponsored the annual Brotherhood Week, February 19 to 26 in more than 2,000 communities throughout the United States. The theme of the observance was "Democracy and Freedom." A message to Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders asked that Brotherhood Week be devoted to "a new study of the Bill of Rights and its implications for a free America," declaring that the principles of democracy "are flouted and despised in many parts of the world today," and that "we need to face the fact that the threats directed against human liberties menace Protestants, Catholics and Jews alike.

The recent Yale University Christian Conference was described by the Yale News as the "most significant of religious activities at Yale since the World War." The details were worked out by a joint committee of 100 faculty members and students. It was intended to aid students not wholly convinced about Christainity by giving them the facts and truths of Christianity in a thoughtful and logical way. Dr. George A. Buttrick, of New York City, was the principal speaker. During the remainder of the college year, talks will be given by well-known authorities in the field of religion and by men associated with undergraduate life at Yale.

Writing a long article in Antireligioznite, A Moscow leader says that Moscow was disappointed with the "Goodless" Congress held last September in London. The chief reason assigned was that too much attention was paid to the "danger of the Vatican" and not enough to the reactionary role of other religions. This was due to the "Protestant mentality" of most of the delegates. A young Soviet composer, named Dmirti Shostakovitch, has urged the Godless Society to promote the development of anti-religions tunes, and, eventually, an anti-religious opera. He complains that the Godless have so far produced no music.

A world-wide "spirit of love" campaign has been launched by the Salvation Army to "eliminate hate, ill will and oppression from individuals, groups and nations," according to an announcement.

Blind ministers are to have a Braille magazine of their own. It will be called The Theological Times.



One of the dangers is following the line of least resistance. A child must learn to do the disagreeable. But the question rises, How get the child to do the disagreeable? The answer may be found in the story of a teacher who hated to wash dishes. She said, "I do light housekeeping, and washing dishes is very disagreeable to me and yet I do it." When asked why she did it, she got red in the face: "Would you expect me not to wash the dishes?" "Well," was the reply, "You have told me why you wash them. You prefer clean dishes. And you prefer them clean so much that you are willing to go to the trouble to wash them. Then you learned to do this disagreeable thing at the same time when you learned to prefer clean dishes."

From this story may be deduced two facts: build in your children good and strong interests, as the woman's interest in clean dishes, and give them practice pursuing these interests, encouraging them to persist in the face of difficulties. Then if the interest is strong enough and they have learned to pursue the interest in the face of difficulty, they will have learned how to face a difficulty. That is the way people learn to face the disagreeable.

D. Carl Yoder.

What is the Christian attitude toward war?

The purpose of Christianity is to bring in the kingdom of God for the whole world—a kingdom of a social order wherein all men are brothers and God the Father of all. This purpose does not allow the use of physical force, for if it did, it would cease to be the kingdom of God. But moral compulsion is allowed for it was the method used by the Lord. He used moral force on the religious leaders who desecrated the temple by the sale of sacrificial animals which he drove out with whipcords. Christianity allows a police force for the purpose of bringing a culprit before the bar of justice to be judged by a tribunal of right. Armies trained for war bring guilty and innocent alike before the tribunal of force to be judged by the question of might.—E. Stanley Jones in The Choice Before Us.

Real Curiosity Can Draw Child Into Later Success

By Olive Ro'berts Barton

"Are there any questions?" asks the speaker.

No one rises. So that's that. Dr. Blank, a great authority on his subject, closes his talk with a sense of having failed somehow. It is curiosity that he is seeking. That means interest and a desire to know more while the answers are available. But no one wants to know any more. The audience has been told many things. They are satisfied.

The teacher says, "Children, I want you to ask me questions. We know the main facts but that is only a beginning. Let us talk for ten minutes about the customs of the people in the country we have been studying."

Joseph winks at Homer and raises a hand. His idea, of course, is to keep this free show going so as to shorten the next lesson. Not so very noble, but natural.

The truth is that curiosity is about the rarest quality in the world, in spite of the fact that children of five or ten can drive their parents crazy with questions; or take clocks to pieces, or poke at hornets' nests to see what will happen. Or that a toddler shows real interest in why his dog cannot hear over a toy telephone.

Perhaps curiosity is not altogether lost, but it has a habit of narrowing down too much. The boy retains his curiosity, we'll say, about stamps and post-office cancellations. The girl enlarges her knowledge of dancing by following illustrated journals. Mother takes to new recipes and father watches the swaps in ball teams.

But this is not the kind of curiosity that I wish to emphasize, although it is excellent as far as it goes. What I have in mind is another thing entirely, the urge to know more about everything in general.

So many young people wonder how it happens that a friend who started out as they did, with the same equipment and education, works himself up into a key job after a few years and then keeps on rising. Well, let us take almost anyone for example. A cook might do for our purpose here.

He notices that certain apples are better for sauce and others for pies. Some retain more flavor when baked. The same with other fruits. Peaches have to be watched likewise. Small white ones that come early make the best jam. And so on.

Learn By Questioning

He begins to ask the commission men about the why's and wherefore's. Then he decides to get a book and study up on fruits. He does the same with teas and coffees. And from there he goes into the details of groceries in earnest. His knowledge grows.

He has little free time, but he reads and studies instead of playing. In time he is promoted to steward. And even that is not enough. He begins to study tastes of people. New ways to attract and entertain. He ends by being manager of a big hotel.

He studies on. The word has gone about that Dan knows everything, a regular walking encyclopedia. Hotel men bring him their problems. He is made manager of a chain. In his older years he retires to a large dairy farm. For he knows all about dairies, too.

Curiosity, you see, is based first on interest, and goes on from there. Modern education needs more of it.

Swelling Of Ankles May Be Due To a Variety of Causes

Swelling of the ankles as a result of accumulation of fluid may be due to a variety of causes.

In many instances the swelling of the ankles is not the first evidence that something is wrong. However, it may be the first indication that comes to the attention of the person afflicted. Before the ankles swell, however, water may be accmulating in the tissues beneath the surface of the body.

The most common cause of swelling of the ankles is, of course standing up for a long time. People who are overweight frequently have swollen ankles at night. The swelling tends to disappear after they have rested in bed.

When varicose veins occur, there may be swelling of the ankles as a result of the failure of the fluid to be carried upward. Varicose veins usually occur in older people. Inflammation of the lining of the blood vessels in the leg, such as may occur from many different causes, may also interfere with the flow of fluid from the legs and thus result in swelling of the ankles.

When swelling affects one leg only and not the other, it is necessary to look for some special cause affecting the circulation of that side alone. When, however, there is a consistent and even swelling of the legs of both sides, the cause is probably some general condition affecting the heart, the liver, or the kidneys, or even the lungs.

There are instances in which fluid accumulates in the ankles because of a disturbance of the normal equilibrium involved in the passing of fluid from the blood to the tissues and from the tissues back to the blood. Such a disturbance may be the result of changes in the blood vessels or may also be brought about by excessive salt in the diet, with inability of the body to take care of the excess.

Frequently disturbances of the thyroid glands may be associated with difficulty in the proper handling of water by the body. Sometimes when too much protein material is lost from the body in the excretions, because of inflammatory changes in the kidney, the result will be an accumulation of fluid in the tissues.

Obviously, therefore, the first step in the control of cases of swelling of the ankles is to determine the exact cause. Once this is determined, there are many different measures which the physician may prescribe according to the nature of the condition.

It may be necessary to control the fluid intake into the body, to modify the diet, and perhaps to use blood transfusions.

It may be desirable to support the tissues of the limb by rest, and by wearing suitable elastic bandages. Certain drugs may be prescribed which will tend to produce rapid flow of the fluid from the body. Unless such remedies are prescribed in relationship to the exact cause, they are likely to be ineffectual.

Hitler Wants Automobile For the Masses

GERMANY is still far behind the United States in motorization, despite a desperate attempt to whip up production in the last two years. Whereas there is an automobile for every four persons today in America, there is only one for every 44 in the Reich. So Der Fuehrer proposes to do something about this. His demand is a car for the masses.

Just what this typical Nazi automobile must be Hitler outlined at the recent "Great German" automobile and motorcycle show in Berlin. First, it must be cheap, selling possibly for $400. Second, it must be drastically reduced in weight to save not only cost, but more important, material and fuel. Finally, the number of its models must be restricted so that large-scale production can be assured.

Der Fuehrer, moreover, would cut down the capacity for speed in these new mass production automobiles, although there has been no decree to that effect. Hitler at the Berlin show denounced as "criminal" reckless drivers and insisted that the average maximum speed must be 50 miles, even on the best of Germany's new super highways. He urged that Germany must become not only one of the biggest, but safest, for traffic.

Exemplifying the type of motor car Hitler wants is the new German Volksauto, for which 170,000 orders have already been booked by the German Labor Front, although the first 100,000 will not be supplied until next year. It is low cost, utilizes much synthetic material.

Armstrong To Battle Day

NEW YORK, March 31.—Henry Armstrong, the sad-eyed little Negro holds the world's light and welterweight championships, will balance the latter crown on his brow tonight and prance out into Madison Square Garden's red-roped ring to meet the assault of Davey Day, a Chicagoan of undoubted ability against the second and third raters of the sport.

The hammer is a 1 to 4 favorite to retain his crown in the 15-round duello and depart for England and a fight with Ernie Roderick still wearing the coronet. In fact it is 8 to 5 he will dump Day somewhere along the route.

Almost all the dodges in the ballyhoo business have been employed to build up the fight. These, plus Armstrong's drawing power as the greatest "little" fighter of his time, will bring a crowd of about 15,000 into the Garden and a gate of $35,000 or so into Mike Jacob's well stuffed cash drawer.

Day, a game, smart fighter, has won his last 15 in a row. He has the chance any fighter has out of his class—the chance a broken hand, a badly cut eye or a turned ankle may swing the fight his way. Outside of that there doesn't seem much hope. Henry is in fine shape, his timing is excellent and he has the cool assurance that comes with experience, two titles and 44 straight triumphs.

In the opinion of your correspondent, who gave you Custer over the Indian and Goliah over David, Day will make a fight of it for five or six rounds and then fade before the relentless pace and numbing punching of the mechanical man.

We have Henry as authority. The little man warned, "you keep your eyes open and see if I've gone back any. I'm liable to drop him in your lap."

Break it up, Bud.

Stark Praises Wildlife Body

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 31.—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark told the Missouri Wildlife Federation tonight that "We can conserve the wildlife of the state only by conserving its soil resources."

"The major field of wild life conservation will be on the privately owned farms of the state," declared the governor in his prepared address. "Conservation cannot come until the gameless farm is considered unbalanced."

The governor warned, however, that "a serious responsibility rests upon the shoulder of the sportsmen, too. It is up to them to recognize the constitutional rights of every land owner x x x if they are to have the farmer's help."

The governor praised the work of the new state wildlife conservation commission—inaugurated under his administration — and contrasted its "non-partisan" efficiency with the "cumbersome, inefficient system" of legislative control under which "the supply of game and fish steadily decreased."

Among the commission's achievements he listed:

"More than 4,000 acres have been acquired for game refuges. x x x It has distributed some 16,000 quail x x x and 500 wild turkeys x x x and put more than 4,000,000 fish in streams."

Seven Dead Are Found In Washout

Spring Flood Drags Away Bridge Leaving Highway Death Trap

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 30.—(AP)—Seven bodies were recovered today from receding waters of Clear Creek Bayou, where a spring flood raced in darkness last night to carry away a 100-foot bridge and leave a deadly abyss in a heavily traveled highway.

Drivers said they believed nine automobiles plunged into the Bayou one after another before survivors waved down other oncoming cars. Seven automobiles were recovered.

Five more bodies were recovered late today when a sedan was pulled from the water. The occupants were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Schilling, Mrs. Sam H. Campbell, 36, her three year old daughter, Annette Campbell, and Mrs. Tom Bradley, all of Oak Grove, La.

The gasoline tank exploded as the car was pulled from the water. Burning gasoline was sprayed on the Bayou and rescuers in boats nearby had to dive into the water. No one was injured.

Seek Others

Bodies of two other persons, Miss Ann Turner, Memphis, Tenn., nurse, and Claude Cox of Jackson, were sought. Eight injured survivors were taken to a Jackson hospital. Some of them told of futile efforts to reach the highway quickly to give a warning.

State Highway Commission Chairman E. D. Kenna said debris piling against the span's supports apparently caused the washout. Two middle concrete piers gave way, dropping the bridge into the water.

The other known dead were:

S. M. Wilson, Jackson, Miss.

Marcus Meeks, Canton, Miss., oil driller.

M. W. Beaver, Jackson bridge worker.

Miss Mary Schrack, trained nurse of Mansfield, Ohio.

The missing were:

Mrs. Ann Turner, Memphis trained nurse.

Claude Cox, Jackson.

Miss Margaret Guice, Memphis nurse.

Norman Schlemmer and R. B. Jones, Vicksburg business men.

The injured:

W. A. Bragg, Vicksburg; his son, George Bragg.

Leroy Meeks, brother of Marcus Meeks.

Rupert Lewis, Florence, Miss., truck driver.

Miss Gladys Schrack, sister of Mary Schrack.

R. C. Tindall, Hollandale, Miss.

W. A. Brannon, Clinton Roads, Miss.

L. C. McIntosh, Vicksburg.

The first car, Rupert Lewis said, plunged into the bayou shortly before 9:35 p. m. He said the truck he was driving went into the water at that time and he saw one automobile disappear ahead of him.

Cars Into Abyss

Officers expressed belief the other machines followed Rupert's truck in a period of less than an hour.

The bridge crossed the bayou just above its junction with the Big Black river. Two middle spans were torn out by the flood, leaving a 100-foot abyss in the heavily traveled Vicksburg-Jackson highway.

The bayou is screened by a thick grove. The injured persons floundered in the darkness and some were swept along by the current before finding a place to climb from the stream.

One driver swam a half mile before he could pull out of the swift water. He ran back to help wave down other cars approaching the danger spot.

Ambulances, wrecking crews and divers went to the scene. Rescue efforts were hampered by the heavy truck, which piled atop some of the automobiles. Wreckers had to pull it aside before the divers could go down and crack open windows to search for occupants of the cars.

Searchers called through the section throughout the night, hunting possible lost survivors. Rescued persons had described anguished cries of victims clinging to driftwood.

Two automobiles were still in the raging torrent early today as rescue crews worked to raise them. One was believed to have been occupied by a man and the other by two men and two women.

Hearings Be Held On Wage-Hour Changes

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—Chairman Norton (D-N. J.), said the House Labor committee decided today to begin consideration tomorrow of proposed sweeping changes in the wage-hour law designed to relieve "hardship cases."

The committee probably can complete the job next week, Mrs. Norton told reporters.

Navy To Aid Search For Halliburton

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) said today he had navy department assurance that the navy would use available plane, radio and ship facilities in the search for Richard Halliburton, Memphis author-adventurer.

Halliburton and ten others, en route from Hong Kong to San Francisco aboard a motorized Chinese junk, have been unreported since Friday in an area subsequently swept by a typhoon

Broadened Bill On Sales Tax Back To House

Would Increase Auditor's Power On Collection

JEFFERSON CITY, March 30.—(AP)—A new two per cent sales tax law—broadened to take in such things as bowling or a game of pool—came back to the house today with a committee recommendation for passage.

The chamber voted overwhelming yesterday to continue unchanged the present tax law for another two years.

The new bill, built by the ways and means committee as a substitute for two other measures, would heighten the state auditor's powers to force collection of the sales levy but it falls far short of coming up to the drastic provisions of one of its rejected predecessors.

Shorn from the substitute, for example, was a provision which would have given the auditor a licensing power practically to force out of business any merchant who failed to collect the tax.

The new bill does give him the right to employ lawyers and assistants to aid in sales tax collections.

The committee substitute would require evidence that sales tax had been paid on automobiles before the purchasers could obtain certificates of title. It would broaden the levy on electricity to include all consumers except municipalities and street car companies. The tax on water consumption would be dropped.

More than 500 engineers and architects packed the house chamber last night for a public hearing on a bill which would place them under a state examining board. Speakers at the meeting—largest of the session—said the law was needed to safeguard the two professions in Missouri. Final action was deferred.

Amendment Killed

A constitutional amendment which would have given the governor an appointive power over the state's high courts was killed by the house constitutional amendments committee.

It provided that, in the event of vacancies on the supreme court, court of appeals and circuit and probate courts in St. Louis and Kansas City, the governor would appoint a judge from three nominations of a bar commission. Should the judge not seek election by referendum at the end of the year the office would be declared vacant and against filled by executive appointment.

The committee reported favorably an amendment proposed by Rep. H S. Rainwater (R), Polk County, to increase the state blind pension levy from three cents to 4½ cents on a $100 valuation. The present levy produced insufficient revenue last year to meet the full pension payment.

A bill by Rep. C. E. Still (R), Kirksville, to give osteopaths equal rights with physicians in all public health projects was killed by the house public health committee. A simliar bill is pending in the senate.

France Solidly Backs Premier For Coalition

Praise Daladier On Stand Not To Yield Land

PARIS, March 30—(AP)—Premier Daladier's strong declaration France would cede "not a foot of our land nor one of our rights" to Italy seemed today to have won both popular and political acclaim.

Even the premier's bitter political enemies endorsed his stand—that France would yield no territory, that she would negotiate colonial and other differences with Italy if Italy took the initial step, and that France was strong enough to defend herself.

The Paris press was unanimous with praise.

The Socialist Leon Blum, who frequently has opposed the more conservative Radical - Socialist, Daladier, declared that "we approve of this language." (Blum spoke for his party.)

The Communist party newspaper, consistently a critic of Daladier and increasingly so since the Munich Czecho-Slovak partition No. 1, added its endorsement—even though the speech appeared to have advanced the dispute with Italy, over Italian agitation for French African colonies, no further toward settlement.

The general comment was "now it is up to the axis" of Italy and Germany. Daladier, in his address which was broadcast last night, struck also at Germany, whose break-up of Czecho-Slovakia two weeks ago, he said, was a "heavy blow" to efforts for peace.

Tens of the thousands who listened to the speech in provincial cities organized demonstrations before cages where loud-speakers were installed.

Consult With Sikorski

French generals consulted today with the Polish general Sikorski, former premier now in Paris, who represents a nation vital for the world defense coalition Dalladier proposes.

Conversations continued between Viscount Gort, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, and Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French General Staff of National Defense. They were believed to be putting on the final touches to complete an Anglo-French military alliance.

Many left and independent right newspapers hailed Daladier's policy as a defeat for what they called Foreign Minister Bonnet's "capitulation program."

Bonnet's own paper, L'Homme Libre, praised Daladier's speech, adding that the door remained open for Italy to negotiate "even though Italy is hardly master of herself."

Louis Frossard, who quit as public works minister after a fight with Daladier last August over the premier's labor policy, said the speech "receives the support of the entire nation."

Deputy Henri De Kerrillis, whose bitter pen constantly has attacked Daladier and his government, said "the speech was excellent," and lamented only that "it is a pity it comes so late."

Hopes To Settle Border Dispute

Reconstruction Job Enormous

Start Begins On Restoring Madrid To Normal Life

MADRID, March 30.—(AP)—Spanish Nationalists today faced a long struggle to reconstruct the country torn by 32 months of savage civil war.

Generalissilo Franco's military police rounded up thousands of Republicans for classification and perhaps trial as a prelude to the great social task.

General Espinosa De Los Monteros gave the military courts jurisdiction in crimes committed during the civil war and declared a technical state of war (in effect, martial law) until Madrid is restored to normal life.

Proclamations posted throughout the city warned madrilenos of summary court martial and death of a firing squad for any who fail to surrender firearms, explosives or incendiary and poisonous materials within 24 hours.

Silent groups quickly clustered about the proclamations.

The war-numbed populace continued peace demonstrations in the streets of Madrid, fallen Republican capital, while waiting for food from the unending stream of supply trucks that followed Franco's legions into the city on Tuesday.

"Mop-Up Operations"

Gunfire was heard in the Escorial sector of Greater Madrid. Frightened civilians steered clear of that zone for fear of stray bullets. "Mop-up operations," said the Nationalists.

Republican militiamen still at large were ordered to surrender their arms immediately. Truckloads of rifles rolled up to the Madrid military headquarters. It was believed that virtually all Republican planes and artillery had passed into Nationalist hands.

Children frolicked over Madrid's abandoned barricks, now being torn down for fuel, and through the network of trenches from which thousands of Republican soldiers had held off resieging Nationalists since November 6, 1936.

Guards on the battlefield at the northwestern corner of the city the university city section, turned back sightseers after two children at play there set off an abandoned hand grenade and were killed.

Hundreds of civilians approached the university city zone for a view of the war ruins—once beautiful buildings now gaunt skeletons.

Crucial Relief Battle

$50,000,000 Cut From Request Of President Starts Congressional Fight

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—A crucial fight on the question of additional relief funds for this year began today on the house floor, where critics raked WPA with charges of "waste and extravagance" and defenders of the agency declared it must have $150,000,000 to put "more food on the tables of the undernourished."

At first leaders believed they might obtain a vote on the question tonight, but later decided to recess the house and put the showdown over until tomorrow.

The President had asked $150,000,000 to carry WPA through June, but the house appropriations committee cut the figure to $100,000,000. While most Democratic members of the "economy bloc" appeared ready to vote for the $100,000,000, Rep. Taber (R-NY) declared if WPA would eliminate waste no further appropriation for this year would be needed.

Battle On Procedure

Debate on the bill was preceded by a stormy battle over the procedure to be followed. The rules committee proposed there be four hours general debate and amendments be restricted to changes in the amount of the appropriation.

The house applauded for more than two minutes a statement by Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), a leader of the economy bloc, that the use of WPA funds for a New York world's fair exhibit and the "Swing Mikado" project was a "disgraceful diversion of relief money." The Republican side thundered its applause, with large numbers of Democrats also joining in the ovation.

Kiwanians Hear Economic Talk

"Economics and Its Relationship to Present Day Business and Social Problems," was the subject of a talk before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon by Harold W. Harding, Kansas City, Kas., a member of the speakers' committee of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He was introduced by E. T. Mattingly, program chairman, who arranged through Ellsworth Green, Chamber of Commerce secretary, to have Mr. Harding come here.

C. H. Davis, attendance chairman, provided a novel stunt by initiating propaganda for a 100% attendance during April. Corder and William Scotten, high school boys, in the role of news boys, distributed a "war extra" which announced the opening of hostilities against slack attendance.

Burney Morriss directed the Smith-Cotton Boys' Glee Club in singing two numbers.

L. W. Satorius, manager of the Missouri Egg and Poultry Co., became a new member of the club. Initiation ceremonies were conducted by Wm. R. Courtney.

Henry Fredkin, St. Louis, and Robert W. Hadleck, Jefferson City, were club guests.

Rely On Farm Bloc To Rally To WPA Slash

Face Determined Drive To Avert Cut Proposed

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—Amid angry Republican protests against "arrogant gag rule," the House began debate today on the proposal to give WPA an additional $100,000,000 to finance relief until June 30.

Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass.), denounced the parliamentary maneuvers under which the measure was brought to the floor. These would effect an arrangement which would prohibit any changes except in the amount of the appropriation and efforts began immediately to prevent ratification of the procedure.

On the main issue, Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), led off a heated discussion with a warning that unless the funds were voted, 400,000 reliefs faced early dismissal from WPA rolls.

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—House economy advocates relied heavily today on farm bloc help to back up an appropriations committee proposal that President Roosevelt's WPA request be cut to $100,000,000.

They faced a determined drive by the administration leadership and representatives of urban areas, however, to give the president the full $150,000,000.

The farm bloc was bitter over Tuesday's defeat of a $250,000,000 fund for parity payments. Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) economy leader, said its strength, together with the economy votes and the Republican opposition, would be sufficient to sustain the committee figure.

Majority Want Raise

Rep. Cannon of Missouri, ranking Democratic member of the appropriations committee, said an effort would be made to raise the committee figure because "a majority of the Democrats on the committee wanted the $150,000,000."

In event the house refuses to grant the larger sum, Cannon predicted the senate would approve both it and the parity payment money and the house finally would agree.

Legislators were speculating over the president's reaction to the cut, should it finally go through. He told callers yesterday the WPA would have to make the money go as far as possible.

Order 400,000 Cut

A 400,000 cut in the rolls already has been ordered for next week. WPA officials insisted it will be carried out unless additional funds are forthcoming, but in administration circles at the capitol there is a belief the cut may be delayed and some part of the order may be rescinded.

The house appropriations committee contended the reduction of $50,000,000 in funds to operate the WPA until July 1 should make no difference in the rolls.

The WPA, the committee majority argued, would save $7,015,000 between March and July as a result of having dropped 30,000 aliens; it would save $16,282,425 by cutting off this month at least 88,975 recipients not in actual need, and it had on hand unexpended balances of $45,750,000.

The committee also called on the WPA to economize on such items as travel and subsistence expenses of $500,000 monthly and a monthly outlay of $150,000 for communications. It traced the rise of relief costs from $1,270,235,065 in 1936 to $2,163,868,406 in the present fiscal year and declared the figures should show a downward trend rather than continuing to rise.

Stark Again Lambasts Kansas City Police

Open Hearings On Police Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, March 30—(AP)—Judiciary Chairman H. P. Lauf (D), Jefferson City, said today his committee would hold an open hearing for proponents of the Weakley bill to establish state control of the Kansas City police, Tuesday, April 11.

Opponents of the bill will be heard later, Lauf said. He explained the committee would not meet next Tuesday—its regular night—because many House members would be absent to vote in the spring municipal elections.

The House agreed that it would hold only formal sessions Monday and Tuesday and not attempt to transact any business because of the elections.

Italo-French Relations Are More Strained

Mussolini Is Cheered In Town Of Calabria

ROME, March 30—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today affirmed Italy's intention not to remain "a prisoner in the Mediterranean" while Fascists studied with disfavor last night's address of Premier Daladier of France.

Virginia Gayda, leading Fascist editor, summed up Italian reaction to Daladier's speech with the assertion that the French premier wanted to "shut tight the half-closed door" to French-Italian negotiations.

Il Duce spoke only briefly during an inspection tour of Calabria, the province in the toe of Italy.

Gayda, who wrote in Il Giornale d'Italia, tempered his comment with the statement:

"Italy is not impatient. She can wait and she waits. . . . . History will one day tell whether this has not decisive value in the present dramatic moment of Europe which would clarify and secure positions once for all."

"It is clear by now," Gayda concluded, "that the French government does not wish to discuss further either territories or rights. It wishes to separate itself from Italy and stiffen itself with its 'never.'

"So nothing remains but to consider the problem of Italo-French relations—still open from its foundation and aggravated — and pass on to other subjects without, however, taking our eyes off that problem for an instant."

Il Duce Speaks Briefly

At Cosenza where Il Duce halted briefly he recalled the words of the late Michele Bianci, "When one has given all to the Fatherland he has not yet given enough."

The premier concluded with, "Comrades be ready in every instant of your lives, as Fascists and Italians, worthy of and faithful to his (Bianchi's) memory."

The first newspaper comment on Daladier's speech to be noted was that of Il Resto Del Carlino, important Bologna paper, which said the chasm between France and Italy had deepened.

On the Calabrian coast, Mussolini placed a wreath at the tomb of Michele Bianchi, one of the Fascist leaders in the march on Rome, and then visited Cosenza where he laid the cornerstone of a new normal school.

Everywhere along his route, flags and banners and roadside signs acclaimed him, and crowds gathered to cheer.

Charge 'Crime Syndicate' Out For Control

JEFFERSON CITY, March 30—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark declared today a "Kansas City crime syndicate is trying to control the general assembly" through a "political move over the signature of the Kansas City police director," Otto P. Higgins.

Stark said Higgins had written each member of the legislature "in an attempt to bring political pressure" to defeat the governor's proposal to place Kansas City's police department under the control of a state bi-partisan board to be named by the executive.

The governor exhibited copies of what he said was the Higgins letter, setting out comparative facts of the Kansas City police record under the present "home rule" system and under the state supervision in force until 1932.

"The Kansas City crime syndicate is now trying to control the general assembly, just as it tried last summer to gain control of the Missouri supreme court," Stark declared. His reference was to the defeat of Supreme Court Candidate James V. Billings who made the democratic primary race with the support of Kansas City's T. J. Pendergast organization.

With his latest blast at Kansas City police—second in a week—the governor disclosed that he had "talked to the white house" concerning conditions in Kansas City but he declined to amplify the statement.

"After seven years of so-called 'home rule' the Kansas City police department is known to the people of the state as a gangster controlled department," Stark declared. "It is known to the federal law enforcement agencies as a gangster controlled department . . . "

Claims Failure On Duty

"The people of Missouri know that the Kansas City police department has absolutely failed to do its duty, as shown by the evidence in the hundreds of convictions in the election fraud cases in the federal court," the governor continued. "There was not a single arrest made by the Kansas City police department for election frauds . . . . .

"The citizens of Missouri know . . . . . that Kansas City, if not the worst, is one one of the worst criminal hideouts in the United States. . . . .

"This is not a question of 'home rule.' This question of law enforcement is a state-wide problem. We must protect not only the people of Kansas City, but the people of the entire state, to which crime radiates from Kansas City."

Stark declared a "Kansas City crime syndicate is not content with dominating the police, the city government and the law enforcement agencies in Kansas City. In its arrogance and with the supposed power of its affiliated political organization it is reaching out to many counties in the state, endeavoring to elect judges, sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys . . . .

"Rural Missouri is not going to stand for that sort of thing. . . . .

"If this Kansas City police control measure for law enforcement fails to pass the general assembly all the counties of Missouri will be in danger of falling into the clutches of the overlords of Kansas City gangsters."

Tax Collections Exceed Estimate

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—March income tax collections have run over $500,000,000, exceeding by more than $75,000,000 the sum figured on by President Roosevelt in his budget estimates.

Today's treasury statement disclosed that on March 28, three days before the month's end, $501,068,010 had been checked into the government's till.

Although above budget estimates, the collections lagged behind March, 1938, returns when $723,000,000 was received in income taxes.

The deficit for the fiscal year which began last July 1 amounts to $2,321,905,448.

Borrowing to pay for the deficit boosted the public debt to a new high of $39,972,052,542.

Repudiate Loans To Chiang Kai Shek

SHANGHAI, March 30.—(AP)—Repudiation of all loans or credits grantedl by foreign powers to the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek was announced today by a joint session of ministers of the Japanese-dominated Peiping and Nanking governments.

(The United States export-import bank last December extended a $25,000,000 credit to a company representing the Chinese government. March 8 the British government announced it was backing two British banks making a $25,000,000 loan to support China's credit).

Clark Gable And Carole Lombard Wed Wednesday

HOLLYWOOD, March 30—(AP)—Fun-loving Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, who wrote the long anticipated happy ending to the story of their courtship in a little Arizona town late yesterday, returned early today to the bride's Bel-Air home.

Exhausted by their 750-mile trip they retired, to wait until later to move into the home on his one-mule San Fernando valley ranch which Gable redecorated in preparation for the wedding.

Friends were not surprised when news of the ceremony reached here last night. The marriage had been expected daily since the screen's No. 1 masculine star was given his freedom earlier this month by his second wife, Maria.

Gable, 38, and his blonde bride, 31, a top-ranking comedienne, scorned the time-tried Hollywood elopement plot. They chose Kingman, Ariz., a desert railroad community, for the rites in preference to filmdom's more favored Gretna Greens, Yuma, Ariz., and Las Vegas, Nev. They traveled by automobile instead of by plane, as have most other elopers.

But a few hours later, they were eating dinner in Needles, Calif., and were reported seen at other small communities on the highway across the Mojave desert, enroute home.

Gable Back To Work

They stopped briefly at a state checking station in Daggett, where an inspector said Gable was sleeping soundly, Miss Lombard appeared drowsy and their companion, Otto Winkler, publicity man, was driving.

Gable was due back on the Selznick lot late today to continue work as Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind."

Gable's ranch was purchased some months ago. He has spent almost all his spare time there, doing some plowing and helping care for his citrus grove.

For four years, he and Miss Lombard have been indulging in "gags" at the other's expense. Carole's latest was the gift of "Bessie," a mule, to Gable on his birthday last month. "Bessie" is a favored resident of the ranch.

Ten Objectives Listed For Congress By Barkley

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—Listing ten "desirable" objectives headed by neutrality law revision, Senate Leader Barkley (D-Ky) outlined a legislative program today that he said would keep congress in session until late in June.

Conspicuous by their absence from Barkley's list were amendments proposed by business men and the AFL to the labor relations act, as well as suggested consolidation of corporation taxes into one general levy.

Barkley, who conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt on the legislative program, enumerated three tax objectives — temporary "freezing" of social security payroll taxes at present levels, continuance of so-called nuisance taxes, and approval of reciprocal state and federal salary levies. Taxes on income from future issues of government securities also may be considered.

Besides these tax objectives and neutrality, Barkley said congress should enact:

Railroad relief legislation.

An emergency appropriation for the WPA as well as relief funds for the next fiscal year.

Legislation to expand and continue housing activities.

The remaining portions of the national defense program.

The annual departmental appropriations bills.

Barkley said he expected considerable time to be consumed by hearings on neutrality, railroad and labor legislation, but said it was his "conservative estimate" that congress could wind up its work between June 15 and July 1.

For Speed On Neutrality

The democratic leader said he had opposed, as a member of the foreign relations committee, the committee's decision yesterday to hold public hearings, beginning next Wednesday, on a half dozen proposals to revise the neutrality act.

"I think that whatever is done," Barkley said, "ought to be done with all possible speed to avoid not only uncertainty here, but to avoid uncertainty abroad as to what we intend doing."

Stop Mourning A Market Lost Forever

We might as well face it.

It never did exist, really, because during the World War the need was abnormal, and afterward the trade was largely supported by huge loans.

Ever since the war, men have been dreaming of the return to this market to a "normal" which never was normal. Desperate moves toward self-sufficiency by all European countries, the rise of new and competing producing areas, the walling up of trade areas by totalitarian countries—all these have combined to destroy a market which once took the products of 50,000,000 acres of American farm land.

Secretary Wallace admits that this market is gone forever. The present trade difficulty with Germany, while it will cut down German imports here, will also further reduce export of cotton, for which Germany was a good customer. Overwhelming surpluses of cotton will continue to pile up.

There are two ways of facing this problem. One is to develop, insofar as possible, markets in the western hemisphere to replace those lost in Europe. Secretary Wallace is hard at work on this, and it is possible that some good can be accomplished in this way. But it will take time, planning, and government money.

Another approach is more immediate and more direct. Farmers in one-crop areas are beginning to realize that the great European export market is lost for good.

There is not, and cannot be, any permanent future in producing for a market that is gone, despite any generosity the government can muster. More and more such farmers, directed by wise and forward-looking local leaders, especially in the south, are turning to crop diversification, raising vegetables, or dairying, to supply things now generally missing from the diet of the people.

A manufacturer who stubbornly went on building 42-cylinder automobiles that nobody could buy, and piling them up in a warehouse, would be considered cracked. But a farmer who continues to raise cotton and wheat that nobody can buy is just unfortunate.

More and more of them are thinking hard about raising things that people can buy. The soy bean has gone from a novelty into an important staple within 10 years. Many a farmer has found that well-tended woodland on his farm yielded him more than fields of unwanted crops. The domestic need for vegetables and dairy products in many regions has never been supplied at all.

Before the problem can be solved it must be faced. Realization that the European markets of the 1920s are gone forever is the first step.

One in every 12 persons in England holds a license to drive an automobile.

Japan and Italy each have had more than 27,000 earthquakes in the last 50 years.

I am past 60, yet boys scarcely above college age often try to flirt with me.—Edna Wallace Hopper.

Three thousand disabled soldiers of the World War still are being treated in British hospitals. Great Britain supplies about 4,000 artificial limbs to war pensioners in a single year.

'A Nice War Would Be Good for Business'

Somehow you never actually find the fellow who says, and sticks by it, that "a nice little war would be good for business."

Such sentiments seem to be in the back of some people's minds. You hear such sentiments implied, but you never pin the remark down to any single responsible person who is willing to stick to it.

Just how good for business another war would be is indicated by the tax proposal just launched in the Senate, the most sweeping tax measure ever to gain majority approval in that body. Fifty senators are reported to have signed their approval, though it is likely that many of them never read it.

The bill would provide "steeply graduated income and other taxes," mounting to 98.9 per cent. Up to $4,000, the taxes would be held down to 4.5 per cent, but for $10,000 incomes, taxes would reach 26.4 per cent, and for $20,000 incomes taxes would be up to 51.2 per cent. And if any person's or any corporation's war profits rose to $10,000,000 in a year, the government would get $9,890,210 or 98.9 per cent of it.

Nobody can object to the principle that at a time when many men are made to give their lives, other men should be made to give their money, any or all of it.

But such a proposal runs into interesting complications. It leaves out of account state and local taxes. For instance, one calculation is that a $500,000 income in New York would not only all be taken by the government, but the man who received it would owe $26,130 in addition. A New Yorker with $100,000 income would have $2,030 left after paying federal and state taxes, and one who made $1,000,000 would owe state and federal governments $61,130 more than his entire taxable income. He might even have to dig down into the barrel for a couple of gilt-edged bonds.

What corporations would do to build up reserves against future emergencies under such a regime is not stated.

It is unlikely that such a bill will pass, despite its enthusiastic reception. But it is well that it has been introduced.

It will show to any lackwit who has any lingering idea of profiting out of a "nice little war," that the pickings are going to be mighty slim the next time, if there are any pickings at all.

Probably the only pickings during and after any other war in which the United States engages will be at the bones of free and democratic institutions.

The highest marriage rate in Europe is in Germany, with more than 10 marriages per 1,000 of population. Poland ranks second with 8.3; Holland and Italy tie for third with 7.6; England fourth with 7, and France fifth with 6.9.

Exhibit From Missouri Be Magnificent

Display To New York Assembled In Sedalia

Constructed and assembled at the Missouri State Fair grounds, the Missouri exhibit for the New York World's Fair was shipped east in a fleet of ten 50-foot freight cars, last week.

More than 1,000 crates have been used to transport the materials for the "Show-Me" state's display entitled "Romantic Missouri" to its setting in the Missouri building at the New York Fair, to be viewed by millions. The design of the structure is similar to the one at the San Francisco Exposition, with the facade fashioned after the portico of the Ralls county court house.

F. W. S. Sayers

Large murals by Missouri artists will decorate the walls of the great lobby. In the general exhibit room will be painted canvas panoramas — two are 85 feet long and 30 feet high — of Missouri landscapes, uniquely lighted dioramas that are three-dimensional views of prominent state scenes, immense highway and agricultural maps, displays of native rock and timber to be arranged in naturalistic settings, replicas of pioneer homes and buildings, and variegated booths featuring examples of state products and resources — all telling Missouri's story.

The chief purpose of the display in its entirety is to give a generalized perspective of this state.

To Setup Exhibit

F. W. S. Sayers, of Jefferson City, is the director of the exhibits for both fairs, and he is now in New York taking charge of the "setting up" of the Missouri exhibit, which will first be inspected by the public when the fair opens April 30.

Mr. Sayers has been with the state highway department for many years, and normally is with the roadside improvement division.

In his capacity as World's Fair director, he has had to keep hundreds of things in mind at once—voluminous pages of historical research, as well as agricultural, economic, educational, industrial and geographical statistics, and how to display them in a decorative and interesting manner to citizens of this country and representatives from foreign lands. Objects all the way from 12-inch dolls representing the historic women of Missouri to an 130-year old mill, complete with 250 feet of "manufactured" brook have claimed his attention.

For the last year nearly 100 persons have been under his direction at the fair grounds, including architects, artists, stenographers and construction crews.

The past has been blended with the present, with emphasis on the attributes possessed by the states today, these men and women have all had a part in the resultant pageant, which becomes its title, "Romantic Missouri."

Men Who Built Missouri Exhibits

The two groups represent the men who did the construction work on the Missouri exhibits for the New York and San Francisco world fairs, which were built at the Missouri State Fair grounds under WPA supervision. The lower picture shows the original group of workers. Claude King, sh own in both pictures, served as foreman.

Several Injured As Cars Collide

A 1936 Ford coach, driven by Charles Lane, of 1708 Newton street, Kansas City, and a 1937 Chevrolet coupe driven by "Billy" Carpenter, of 106 West North street, Warrensburg, collided headon about 12:45 o'clock Sunday morning a mile and half east of La Monte, during a drizzling rain.

Mrs. Lane, riding with her husband, received a broken nose, slight lacerations about her face and head, and suffered from shock. She, with her husband, received treatment at the Bothwell hospital, by Dr. A. J. Campbell. Mrs. Lane was released from the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Lane received a cut through the lower lip about an inch and a half long, which necessitated several stitches.

Richard Dawes, of Knob Noster, who was riding with Carpenter, received cuts and lacerations about his face and head, when he struck the windshield of the automobile. He was given medical attention at Knob Noster and it was necessary to take more than twenty stitches to close the wounds.

Carpenter received slight bruises.

W. Archie Lane, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Lane, who is in the artillery at Ft. Riley, Kas., and who was coming to Sedalia to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lane, of 515 East Third street, received a bruised left knee.

The two automobiles were badly smashed and were ordered towed to the side of the highway by Sheriff W. L. Marlin, who went to the scene to make an investigation.

Verdict Given Hawks Of $4,500

Frank Hawks, 57, of Dodson, Mo., was awarded a verdict for $4,500 by a jury in the circuit court Saturday afternoon against Paul Zillman, 26, vocational teacher at Hamilton, Mo. Hawks had asked for $7,500, alleging he suffered permanent injuries in an automobile accident that occurred at the intersection of Raytown road and Bannister road, July 27, 1937. The case was originally filed in Cass county and brought to Pettis on a change of venue.

Hawks was riding in a car driven by his nephew, Melvin Hawks, and he alleged that the car had stopped at the intersection before entering Bannister road, and had started across when it was struck by the car driven by Zillman. He charged Zillman was driving at excessive speed.

The trial started Thursday morning, and was given to the jury at 2:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A verdict was returned two hours later.

Another suit, filed by the nephew, Melvin Hawks, against Zillman, is pending in court and will probably be called for trial in May.

The law firms of Sprinkle and Knowles and Crouch and Crouch of Kansas City and Montgomery and Salveter of Sedalia represented the plaintiff and Henderson and Deach, Kansas City, and Fred Wesner, Sedalia, the defendant.

Members of the jury were: Fred Borchers, Harvey Keens, Jr., Frank A. Clark, Harold Williams, Frank Steelman A. F. Mittelhauser, Ira Palmer, A. A. Yokley, Paul Chmelir, Dan E. McNair, Dan Duly and J. E. Funk.

Favor Opening Old "Y" Gym

A meeting of ministers and laymen met Saturday night at the old YMCA to discuss the re-opening of the gymnasium facilities. A committee of four laymen are to elaborate the plans further in conjunction with the committee already functioning under the Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. J. C. English presided. Most of the thirty laymen and ministers who were present spoke on the report of the ministers' committee, as read by the Rev. W. P. Arnold. By motion of C. F. Scotten, the judgment of the group favored the plan and asked the appointment of the joint committee to report back to another meeting of laymen and ministers.

Present plans are to open the gymnasium and showers room. Some discussion ensued in the meeting regarding the feasibility and possibility of opening the swimming pool, but no discussion was possible on that matter at the present time.

Mrs. Grinstead Is 106

Quietly Observes Birthday At The Home Of Son

Mrs. Miranda E. Grinstead, Pettis county's, and perhaps Missouri's oldest resident, is today quietly observing her 106th birthday at the home of her son, Pam Grinstead, at Longwood, with whom she lives. She arose about 8 o'clock this morning, her usual hour, was as calm as could be even though the day is an eventfull one, and ate her breakfast. It consisted of orange juice, a cereal and cream, coffee, two biscuits and butter and a slice of bacon.

Mrs. Miranda E. Grinstead

Relatives and a few friends gathered at the Grinstead home, although there was no planned celebration because the honoree is very feeble, and even to talk for any length of time tires her. The birthday cake, on which was the inscription "Happy Birthday to Mother" was brought by her daughter, Mrs. Davis Taylor, of Wichita, Kas.

The mother of nine living children, Mrs. Grinstead had six of them with her today. Pam Grinstead, Mrs. Walter Gillespie, Sedalia, Mrs. Bessie Bounds Sherman Texas, Mrs. Davis Taylor, Wichita, Kas., Mrs. Roy Taylor, Longwood, and H. F. Grinstead, of Columbia, most of them with members of their families. Children who could not be here were Mrs. E. Hall, Tulsa, Okla., the oldest child who is 84 years old, Mrs. Carolyn Simpson of New Jersey and J. E. Grinstead of Kerrville, Texas.

Born in Logan county, Kentucky, near Russellville, March 24, 1833, Mrs. Grinstead, then Miranda Elizabeth Priest, came to Missouri in 1938. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Priest settled on a farm north of where Sedalia is now located. Her father built the first Methodist church in the county before he was a member of any church. The only other church here, according to Mrs. Grinstead, was a Baptist church, Mt. Herman. Mrs. Grinstead has been a member of the Methodist church ninety-three years.

Married in 1852

She was married to William Grinstead in 1852. He was a miner who went to California during the gold rush. When he came back he became a freighter to Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Grinstead bought the first cook stove she ever saw in 1852 and went to housekeeping with it.

As a girl Mrs. Grinstead was a member of a family where there were numerous slaves, and she had very little work to do. As she grew older, she states, her husband and children were good to her, and she attributes her long life to the fact that she has not had to worry, did the best she knew how, and leaves the rest of God.

Four Injured In A Triple Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 27.—Four persons were injured, two seriously in a three-automobile collision 14 miles east of Edmond Sunday.

Most seriously hurt were Mrs. Abraham Freed, 47, Tulsa, who suffered fractures of the rib and back injuries, and Mrs. T. A. Aggas, 34, wife of an Oklahoma City attorney, who suffered back and possible internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith of Hannibal, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hetzzler, Columbia, Mo., riding in a third car, were unhurt.

Freed and his 12-year-old son, Richard, suffered minor injuries. All were brought to a hospital here.

State Patrolman Eugene Clark said Mrs. Aggas, riding alone in one car, attempted to pass the Smith machine and crashed headon with the Freed automobile, coming from the opposite direction.

Wed by Judge Leslie

A. E. Blaue and Vera Moon both of Sedalia were married about 9 o'clock Saturday night by Judge W. H. Leslie, justice of the peace, at his home, 512 East Fifth street.

Mrs. Lee Bard

Lee Bard, former Sedalian, now of Miami, Fla., who has been visiting his brother, C. H. Bard and other relatives for several weeks, received a message late Wednesday afternoon, stating that his wife had died suddenly after suffering a heart attack. The message was sent by their son, William.

Mrs. Bard, formerly Miss May West, of Sedalia, daughter of the late J. B. and Kathryn West, was born in Evansville, Illinois, March 20, 1876. When but a child she came to Sedalia with her parents and was reared and educated in the schools of this city.

She was married to Lee Bard, also a Sedalian, January 5, 1899, and to this union was born a son, William Bard, who was with his mother at the time of her death. Also surviving besides her husband and son is a brother, Tom C. West, residing at Sixteenth street and Marshall avenue.

A sister, Miss Florence West, who was making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Bard, passed away on December 5, in Miami, and another sister, Mrs. Addie Wallace, passed away two years ago in the state of California.

Mrs. Bard was a member of the Presbyterian church, affiliating with that congregation when a young lady.

She returned to Sedalia last December with her husband when they brought the remains of her sister to this city for funeral services and burial. Bring 200 'Vets' And 14 Officers Here Soon

A lease signed this morning by the Chamber of Commerce, through its president, Joseph L. Rosenthal, Lieutenant Merrill Glenn Rockhold, Quartermaster Reserve, U. S. A., Fort Leavenworth, and Q. A. Morgan, representing Theodore F. Chardavoyne of Newark, N. J., for ten acres of ground, together with arrangements made previously for ten acres belonging to L. B. Starkey, of New Franklin, assures the removal of a CCC camp from Johnson county to Sedalia. It will be located on the southeast corner of Sixteenth street and Engineer avenue, the twenty acres extending from Engineer, eastward.

Bring 200 Veterans

The camp will be composed of two hundred adult war veterans, and approximately fourteen officers, including a doctor and educational director. It is not known at the present time who the officer in charge will be.

The men in the camp will work in co-operation with J. U. Morris, county extension agent, on soil erosion work in Pettis county, and Mr. Morris is already arranging for projects.

The men in the veterans camp each receive $30 per month. Unlike the other camps, veterans receive their entire check, not being required to send the major part to a dependent relative.

Buy Supplies Here

All supplies, such as food, milk and the necessities in the camp, will be purchased in Sedalia, and all skilled labor used in construction of the camp buildings will be local men. Other labor will be done by camp inmates.

The officers are not required to live in the camp, and will probably reside in homes in the city.

Lieutenant Rockhold made arrangements while here today to have the Water Company and City Light and Traction Company make connections for water, gas and electricity at once, and work on camp buildings will begin within about ten days. Twenty wooden buildings are to be constructed, all to be new. They will be kept well painted, the officers stated, and the grounds will be landscaped and made as attractive as possible.

An Interesting P.T.A. Meeting Near Postal

Sedalia Women Participate In A Special Program

Mrs. William Reed, president of the Sedalia council of Parent-Teacher Associations, explained the importance of committee work in local associations at the School of Instruction held at the Memorial Baptist church near Postal, Thursday afternoon. Committees may be considered the machinery of parent-teacher associations. These groups working together first get their information as to their duties at the executive meeting when reprints from the parent-teacher manual are distributed. Mrs. Reed named four committees as being essential: program, publicity, membership, and hospitality. The program committee should select program topics which will be of interest to the community. Participation of parents on programs was suggested. In enrollment of members first teach people what they are joining. Often this can be done by explanation of objectives at study groups. The hospitality group is responsible for the arrangement of the room for meeting, this includes seating, lighting, heating and ventilation. The members of this committee should be individuals who meet people easily and who can help in creating a friendly attitude toward all in the group.

Suit Is Won By Fishbein

DEL RIO, Tex. March 30.—(AP)—A jury of West Texas ranchers and businessmen late Wednesday returned a verdict in favor of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association's Journal, defendant in a $250,000 libel suit brought by Dr. John R. Brinkley.

Will Morris, Jr., of San Antonio, one of Brinkley's attorneys, said the case would be appealed to the circuit court at New Orleans.

The jury returned its verdict after hearing Judge R. J. Cc-Millan charge them to consider whether the term quack as applied to Dr. Brinkley in a magazine article written by Dr. Fishbein was true and privileged. Dr. Brinkley, famed gland specialist, who broadcasts from a Mexico radio station, had charged he was humiliated and damaged by the article.

Prepare For Appeal

DEL RIO, Tex., March 30.—(AP)—Attorneys for Dr. John R. Brinkley today prepared an appeal from a jury's decision the gland specialist was entitled to no damages because of a magazine article in which Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago termed him a charlatan and a quack.

William Morris, Jr., of San Antonio, attorney for Dr. Brinkley said an appeal would be taken to the federal circuit of appeals at New Orleans. Federal Judge Robert J. McMillan said the attorneys had ten days in which to file the appeal.

Pay Hike For County Clerks

JEFFERSON CITY, March 30—(AP)—The Senate voted a pay hike for county clerks today, overriding 21 to 7 economy objectors, who attacked the measure as a "rank evasion" of the county budget law.

The bill, introduced by Senators Dick Dale (D), Richmond, and Delmar Dail (D), Marceline, would make the county clerks the budget officer in any county under 80,000 population and grant extra compensation ranging from $200 to $600 annually.

"This is just one of a series of pay hikes for county officers," opposed Senator Emery W. Allison (D), Rolla. "If we grant all these requests we'll add substantially to the heavy tax burden."

"We put counties on a solvent basis with our county budget law of 1933," declared Senator Phil M. Donnelly (D), Lebanon. "Since then there have been numerous attempts to change that law for the sole benefit of the office holder. This is just another of those evasions and as rank as any we've had. This is not the time to increase salaries when just yesterday we refused sufficient funds for aid to dependent children."

Senator W. E. Freeland (D), Forsyth, joined with the bill's authors in contending the county clerk "does the most work of any county official and is badly underpaid."

Only Senators George Clayton (D), Hannibal; Raymond Cox (D), Audrian county; Michael Kinney (D), St. Louis; Raleigh McCormick (D), Webster Groves, and William Quinn (D), Maywood, joined Donnelly and Allison in the "no" vote.

The Senate also passed a bill to allow an extra deputy to county auditors who act as budget officers of counties having cities of 50,000 to 150,000 population, fixing the salary of the deputy at $1,500 a year.

W. B. Rissler Pettis county clerk, and his office force have served as budget officers in the county, working co-operatively with the county court to make out a budget each year, receiving no additional remuneration for same.

Under the new law there will be a special allowance, something between $200 and $600, for this service.

Injuries In an Auto Wreck Prove Fatal

Mrs. Taylor, of Cole Camp Dies After Crash

Mrs. Juanita Taylor, 21 years old, wife of Louis A. Taylor, Jr., of Cole Camp, was fatally injured about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, when a Ford V-8 coach which was driven by Ray Richards, left the road on a curve four miles south of Sedalia on highway 65, crashed into timber and was demolished. Mrs. Taylor died about 7:20 o'clock Sunday morning at the Bothwell hospital.

Injured in the accident were:

Mrs. Marian Richards, 26, wife of the driver of the car, severe back injury, several small bones being broken, also lacerations on face and hands, and body bruises. Her condition is very serious, but not believed to be critical.

Husband Also Hurt

Louis A. Taylor, Jr., 23, husband of the dead woman, received a multiple fracture of the right arm between the elbow and shoulder, also a fracture of the left collar bone and broken nose. He was released from the hospital Monday evening to go to his home.

Ray Richards, 28, driver of the car, is suffering from several injured ribs. His condition is not serious and he is not in the hospital.

Buster Williams, Negro, 47, received a slight fracture of the backbone just above the pelvis. He also suffered bruises on the left leg and slight lacerations. His condition is not considered extremely serious. He is a patient at Hospital No. 2.

The occupants, residents of Cole Camp, were en route to their homes after spending Saturday evening in Sedalia, shopping and visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards have been residing in Cole Camp but a short time, Mr. Richards being connected with the work on a sewer project there. Their home is in Sterling, Ill.

Williams also moved to Cole Camp recently from North Carolina.

Driving in Drizzle

As they drove south it was drizzling rain, and Mr. Richards said as he approached the curve, he was driving fairly fast, but a truck with trailer was coming, and he was crowded so he had to swerve to the left and in doing so lost control of the car. It went over the enbankment, crashed through the timber and came to rest against a small tree, completely demolished. Some of the occupants were thrown from the car while others were trapped inside.

It was necessary for people who arrived on the scene a few minutes after, to chain up one of the doors to hold it open so those caught inside could get out.

Rushed To Hospitals

The injured people were rushed to the hospitals in Sedalia in the McLaughlin and Gillespie ambulances. The Ewing ambulance also made a trip to the wreck.

Medical attention was given the wreck victims by Dr. A. J. Campbell and Dr. John Carlisle.

An examination revealed Mrs. Taylor had died from a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. She also suffered a bruised right eye, and broken nose.

Troopers To Scene

Sergeant Paul E. Corl and highway patrol and Willis A. Watts of the highway department Trooper Lester Estes of the statement, measured the distance of the wreck Sunday morning. They found the car had traveled 169 feet through the air after leaving the pavement, crashing through the trees, tearing away limbs and knocking over small trees, and after striking the ground, rolled and skidded twenty-seven feet through the timber.

The curve is fairly banked and a car leaving the concrete at the point where the Richards car catapulted into the air, it would shoot upwards like a skyrocket.

Shortly after the accident Clyde Paul, from the Emergency Red Cross Station at Flat Creek Inn, rushed to the scene, and in the meantime ambulances were called. He assisted in helping with the injured. Within a very few minutes persons heading for the Lake of the Ozarks gathered, and it was estimated more than two hundred persons were at the wreck scene. Through Sunday morning the highway at that point was partly blocked by people desiring to see the demolished automobile.

Wreck Victim

Mrs. Juanita Fields Taylor, 21, wife of L. A. Taylor, Jr., Cole Camp, fatally injured in the automobile wreck which occurred south of Sedalia early Sunday morning.

Wreckage In Which Five Were Injured, One Fatally

Scenes at Auto Wreck South of Sedalia Sunday Morning

Tree Planting To Check Erosion

A demonstration on planting trees in a gully to check erosion is to be held on the Walter Rissler farm, located two miles east of Sedalia on Highway 50, Friday afternoon, March 31, at 1:30 p. m., according to an announcement by J. U. Morris, county extension agent.

Black locust will be used in making the planting in this gully. This tree makes a rapid growth, producing post material in ten to twenty years. It is also unexcelled in erosion control planting and is one of our legume trees; therefore, a soil builder.

In addition to the tree planting demonstration, the care and management of trees will be discussed by Calvin M. Bowen of the Missouri Conservation Commission.

During the past few years, the planting of forest trees to check soil erosion and bring an income to what otherwise might be waste land has become very popular on many farms in Missouri.

All farmers who have woodlands on their farms and are interested in learning the best methods of care and management and any individual's interested in the planting of woodlots, windbreaks, and in planting gullies to trees are cordially invited to attend this meeting.
